READY TO MAKE EVERY SACRIFICE

SUFFRAGETTE LEADER TAKES REFUGE IN PARIS

Miss Christobel Pankhurst Will Direct Operations From French Capital

London, Sept. 12.—Votes for Women, the official organ of the militant suffragettes, announced to-day that Miss Christobel Pankhurst, who evaded arrest when her mother Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence were arrested and tried for conspiracy, is now established in Paris, from which city she will direct the political side of the movement. Miss Pankhurst has been advised that her offence, being political, is not extraditable.

A Paris dispatch gives an interview with Miss Pankhurst in which she admitted that she had been living in France for six months, and declaring her intention of settling permanently in Paris.

She added: "The struggle will be carried on more desperately than ever. We are ready to make every sacrifice."

Ministers Attacked.
Dernoch, Scotland, Sept. 12.—Prime Minister Asquith and Home Secretary McKenna were attacked by two suffragettes while going on the Dernoch links.

The women started by haranguing Mr. Asquith, and when Mr. McKenna tried to push them away, a scuffle followed. Mr. McKenna with a detective who came to his assistance, with difficulty prevented the women from getting at Mr. Asquith. The ladies refused to interfere, but the police inspector arrived, and the suffragettes were marched to the police station.

May Be Kept Out.
Ottawa, Sept. 12.—There is a possibility that the militant suffragettes who are coming to Canada to carry on a campaign, may be refused entrance as undesirable. The suggestion has been made to the immigration department, and if it is acted upon under the law, they could be debarred owing to their announcement that they intended to make trouble, and also on the ground that they have been convicted as criminals in England.

MINISTERS ARE INVESTIGATING LOAN

China Must Provide for Supervision of Expenditure Before Money is Advanced

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—The state department has received word from American Minister Calhoun at Peking that the reported $50,000,000 loan is being investigated by the foreign ministers there. It was informed at the state department that the conditions in the contract must bring it within the broad terms which the six powers have laid down as essential to the conclusion of any loans to the Chinese government. All these powers have definitely agreed that they would not advance any money to China except upon provisions for a careful supervision of its expenditure. These provisions were made to make sure that any loan should not be put to improper uses.

The negotiators realized the difficulty of preventing individual bankers and even mercantile corporations, like steamship lines and like concessions, from yielding to the temptation of high interest rates to lend money privately to the Chinese government. To meet this difficulty the powers undertook to let it be known that they would not be protected in such loans by their own governments.

Therefore, officials here are inclined to believe that the contract has been submitted to the ministers informally, and it has received their approval.

Hitch Probable.
Peking, Sept. 12.—It is generally believed in financial circles here that the independent loan to China of $50,000,000 recently negotiated in London by the representatives of Lloyds Bank and the Chinese minister there will not be concluded. The Chinese officials, it is pointed out, realize that they cannot deal outside the six-powers group of financiers.

KILLED BY STREET CAR.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—Ground under the wheels of a suburban car at Lansdowne avenue and Davenport road, William Burke, a night-watchman employed on the civic construction work at St. Clair avenue, had his right leg torn off above the knee and his left leg broken. He died an hour later in the Western Hospital. Burke, an elderly man, had finished his night's duty and was going home. The car had just started and he made a spring to board it. He missed and swung around and fell under the wheels.

LIBERALS IGNORE ABUSE BY TORIES

WILL CONTINUE ON COURSE, SAYS CHURCHILL

Minister Admits That Slight Changes Would Improve National Insurance Bill

London, Sept. 12.—That there was no split-vote in the Midlothian bye-election, and that no amount of Tory abuse could possibly prevent the Asquith government from passing the Home Rule bill, were Winston Churchill's contentions to-day.

As far as the national insurance bill was concerned, Mr. Churchill admitted that it might be improved in detail, but that as a whole it was irrevocable for the simple reason that it was indispensable.

Already, Mr. Churchill concluded, 12,000,000 policies had been taken out under its terms.

The Unionist press is jubilant over the capture of Mr. Gladstone's old seat, for the result in Midlothian is regarded as a knock-down blow to the government.

The Liberal morning papers demanded that Premier Asquith insert in the next electoral reform bill a clause which, either by provision for an alternative vote or for a second ballot, will prevent a constituency from being represented by a minority vote.

An aeroplane, for the distribution of leaflets in remote districts, was the feature of the campaign. It was through the medium of the winged messenger also that the conference of the chambers of commerce being held at Newcastle was notified of the result of the election.

AMBASSADOR BRYCE RETURNS.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 12.—James Bryce, the British ambassador to the United States, who arrived here yesterday with Mrs. Bryce from Australia, declines to talk politics or comment on the Panama Canal Act. He said Australia welcomed the re-establishment of the American steamship service. The ambassador was the guest last night of the directors of the Sierra Club at the University Club.

Ambassador Bryce left here to-day for Moosehead Lake, Maine, the summer quarters of the British embassy.

CANADIANS URGED TO EXERCISE CAUTION

London Daily News Says Great Prosperity May Bring Grave Evils

London, Sept. 12.—"While we do not anticipate any serious setback in the near future there are reasons nevertheless for preaching caution, says the Daily News, commenting on Canadian returns published Wednesday.

"Speculation in land has reached a dangerous point, and in the midst of this rush of prosperity it is well to remember the grave evils developing, which will furnish many difficulties when the country has been further developed.

The trust system has gripped Canada to an extent which eliminates the state, and labor is very much disorganized.

"Politically," the article concludes, "Canada is far behind its development."

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

New Westminster, Sept. 12.—Crushed under a truck which fell when the chain tackle broke, John Severson yesterday morning was so badly injured that he expired on his way to the hospital. The accident occurred at Gilley street, between the foot of Tenth street. The crane that hoisted the cars from the barges was turning slowly when the chain which held an empty car snapped, without giving Severson any chance to escape. His side was completely crushed in. Severson had been in the company's employ for six years and was unmarried.

KILLED WHEN CAR CAPSIZES.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 12.—J. S. Lloyd, of Venice, lost his life, and 15 others were more or less seriously injured to-day when a suburban electric car turned over at Venice, while rounding a sharp curve at high speed. The car was outboard from Los Angeles. According to the passengers the brake of the car would not work and owing to the high speed it could not keep the rails when it struck the curve.

LEPERS ON COOK ISLAND.

Christchurch, N. Z., Sept. 12.—An official report from Cook Island says leprosy is prevalent to a great extent. The lepers live in the most disgraceful conditions and the general health of the island is deplorable. Drastic measures are necessary to save the population.

BRITISH BOARD OF TRADE. Chambers of Commerce Favor Changes Which Will Make Department More Efficient.

London, Sept. 12.—At the convention of the Chambers of Commerce being held at Newcastle, the motion proposing the appointment of a minister of commerce in the House of Commons was negatived by a large majority, although it had good support from many of the delegates.

However, the convention passed a resolution recommending changes in the construction calculated to strengthen the influence and the efficiency of the Board of Trade.

CANADIAN IMMIGRATION.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Immigration figures for the present year to August 1 show 82,783 arrivals from Great Britain, a decrease of fifteen as compared with the same period last year. Continental immigration totalled 60,959, an increase of 15,000, while 65,900 Americans entered Canada, an increase of 11,000 as compared with the same period last year.

MEXICAN REBEL LEADER DEFIANT

WILL IGNORE WARNING OF U. S. OFFICIALS

American Troops Likely to Increase if Bullets Fall in Douglas

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 12.—Antonio Rojas, encamped within the range of Agua Prieta and less than three miles from the American border, sent a message of defiance last night in reply to the warning of the United States military authorities against firing on American territory.

If the Americans insist on helping the federals they must suffer the consequences, was the substance of his answer.

To the messenger who took the notification from the war department, Rojas sent: "We aren't going to look where we shoot."

The messenger reported that when he delivered the notification to Rojas the latter declared it was a recognition of the belligerency of the rebels.

Nearly the entire force of cavalry is being used in guarding the border.

Alarming reports came from El Tigre, where an attack by the combined forces of Salazar and Alarín threatened. Consul Dye is making strenuous efforts to have aid sent to the camp.

May Take Part in Fighting.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—American troops may take a hand in the fighting at Agua Prieta if bombs fall in Douglas, or lives are menaced on the American side of the border. This was intimated to-day at the headquarters of the general staff of the army, following advice that rebel leaders would disregard warnings that they must not fire in the direction of Douglas.

Troop commanders have blanket instructions to prevent a repetition of the killing of innocent Americans in Douglas during the Madero revolution. These are broadened to cover practically any contingency, and it was made plain to-day that any reasonable action by commanders would be upheld by the war department.

Expeditions Cross Line.
El Paso, Tex., Sept. 12.—A special dispatch to the El Paso Herald from Douglas, Ariz., says twenty-nine Americans that left there yesterday entered Sonora, east of Douglas, and simultaneously 125 Americans crossed the line near Hachita, N. M., fifty between Naco, Ariz., and Nogales, and 125 into Lower California, at Mexicali.

E. S. O'Reilly, who leads the Douglas expedition fought with Madero about Ojinaga and Santa Rosalia and is well-known here. During the present revolution he has been a field correspondent at many battles.

NEW STEAMSHIP LINE TO CHINA

Dr. Sun Yat Sen Endorses
Project of Southern California Chinese

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 12.—The Chinese of Los Angeles received consular advice from Shanghai to-day to the effect that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the revolutionary leader of China, had endorsed a project of the Southern California Chinese for the establishment of a $16,000,000 steamship line between Los Angeles and Hongkong.

According to the officers of the Chinese-O American League of Justice, who originally launched the steamship project, Dr. Sun has taken steps to induce the new Chinese republic to help finance the scheme and in a series of articles which he recently published in individual Chinese newspapers he has declared that "the immediate prosperity of the new republic rests largely upon the commercial relations of China with the Far West."

All those who participated in the funeral were on foot. The procession moved from the palace through the grounds and over the great double bridge used only by the Emperor himself and by foreign ambassadors and great dignitaries.

A great throng filled the space on the other side of the bridge, and a peculiar effect was produced as the procession passed through their mute ranks, only the sound of weird Shinto music being heard.

FUNERAL OF LATE EMPEROR OF JAPAN

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES CONDUCTED AT TOKIO

Thousands Stand in Silence
Along Route of Procession
From Palace

Tokio, Sept. 12.—The second part of the ceremonies in connection with the funeral of the late Emperor took place to-night when the casket containing the body started on its journey to Aoyama, where it will be taken to Monoyama for burial.

Imposing as had been the ceremonies all attended by the great dignitaries in the palace earlier in the day, when the funeral service serving to emphasize the contrast between the ancient Shinto rites and the Twentieth Century militarism, was conducted, the passage of the funeral car, through the streets of the capital to-night was even more impressive. Hundreds of thousands stood for hours in absolute silence along the route the coffin passed. The streets and boulevards were brilliantly lighted with torches and arc lights.

Intersecting the lights were placed large sacred trees and at frequent intervals black and white cloth covered poles, surmounted by wreaths of evergreens, had been erected.

At 7 o'clock in the evening those who were to take part in the procession began to assemble again at the palace. Among them were the holders of orders of merit, officials of many ranks, ministers of state, Korean peers, members of the two houses of parliament and of the imperial cabinet, presidents of provincial assemblies, the mayor of Tokio and the councilmen. The foreign princes and special ambassadors did not take part in the ceremony. The special envoys and the foreign diplomats resident in Tokio went directly after the conclusion of the funeral service to Aoyama.

All the officials gathered at the entrance of the palace, where a double line was formed. The great funeral car, attended by a large number of Japanese of high rank wearing the national court mourning costume, consisting of an upper robe of horse chestnut color, dull colored for trousers, and coronet caps of black silk, was then brought to the gate.

To the wailing notes of a Shinto dirge the immense coffin was wheeled in solemn procession from the main hall. Japanese marched in front of the funeral car and following it were the grand master of ceremonies, bearing the departed monarch's sword and the master of the household, carrying the imperial sword of state. On each side of the casket walked high officials of the household carrying lighted candles.

Profound silence prevailed as the casket was placed on the funeral car, and all those gathered in the street bowed their heads. On the top of the coffin rested a small white wooden tray on which the imperial sword was placed. Then the doors of the car were shut and locked, the candles extinguished and torches lighted by those who were to march alongside.

When all the arrangements had been completed, Emperor Yoshihito and Empress Sadako, Princess Takeda, representing the Empress Dowager, whose physicians prohibited her from taking part, and the princesses of the imperial family came through the hall, entered their carriages and started off alone for Aoyama in order to be ready to receive the casket on its arrival there.

After the departure of their majesties, the great procession formed in line.

The funeral car was preceded immediately by Count Togo, grand master of ceremonies, and Count Watanabe, minister of the imperial household, who were flanked by torch-bearers. The car bearing the casket was of hard Japanese wood, of very heavy structure and was borne on only two wheels. It was drawn by five oxen, each attended by seven drivers. Alongside marched fifty young farmers from the village of Yasea, near Kioto, bearers of the imperial palanquin on ceremonial occasions.

The late emperor's physicians followed, and the ministers of state and other officials came next. The procession concluding with some thousands of soldiers and sailors.

The entire division of the imperial bodyguard marched behind the coffin, as did the representatives of all the army divisions and 1,000 sailors from the fleet. Thousands of other troops lined the route from the palace to Aoyama.

All those who participated in the funeral were on foot. The procession moved from the palace through the grounds and over the great double bridge used only by the Emperor himself and by foreign ambassadors and great dignitaries.

A great throng filled the space on the other side of the bridge, and a peculiar effect was produced as the procession passed through their mute ranks, only the sound of weird Shinto music being heard.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—The Duma has been dissolved. Elections will be held on September 23 and the new Duma will be opened October 23.

WILL EXCHANGE PRISONERS.

Constantinople, Sept. 12.—An exchange of non-combatant prisoners practically has been arranged between Italy and Turkey. The prisoners held by the Turks comprise members of the Italian mineralogical mission captured in Tripoli, while the non-combatants in the hands of the Italians are civilian officials captured in the Aegean Islands.

AMALGAMATION OF COLLEGES.

London, Sept. 12.—Bishop Boyd Carpenter, with Mrs. and Miss Boyd Carpenter, sailed for Canada yesterday. The main purpose of the bishop's visit is in connection with the amalgamation of the several theological colleges affiliated with McGill University. It will no doubt be a great advantage over the present system of several denominations in respect to their theological colleges, declares the bishop. If circumstances permit he will take the opportunity to extend his trip to the Pacific coast.

AUTO FATALITY AT VANCOUVER

MAN THROWN FROM CAR INTO RAVINE

Express Messenger is Instantly Killed—Companion Sustains Injuries

Vancouver, Sept. 12.—Arthur Douglas, aged 37, an express messenger in the employ of the Dominion Express Company, was hurled from an automobile and instantly killed at 11:30 o'clock last night at the southern end of Granville street, where the road turns toward the city.

Mr. Douglas, accompanied by E. H. Johnson, a civil engineer, and George Duncan, a demonstrator employed by the Dominion Motor Car Company, had left the Ellysium hotel for a run to the north end of the city before the accident happened.

On the run down the grade from the road was encountered. The car was slipping along at a good pace, with Duncan driving, according to reports of the accident secured to-day. The occupants of the car apparently failed to realize their position in the fog, and they were at the turn in the road, an abrupt, though not a right-angle turn, before they realized it. Duncan suddenly became aware of the proximity of the turn, but the car reached it before it could be slowed down and in endeavoring to slow the car quickly around the rear wheels skidded, and in a moment the car started to swing with terrific force. Douglas was in the rear seat and the tangential strain threw him, unprepared as he was for the movement, head first out of the car.

Immediately at the turn of the road there is an embankment three feet high and to the south of that a ravine about twenty-five feet deep, in the bed of which the B. C. Electric Railway Company's tracks run in their approach to the city. Douglas was thrown clear over the embankment into the ravine. Thirty feet from the road in the bottom of the gulch lies an immense rock, and the unfortunate man's head struck this in his fall. He was instantly killed.

Assistance was called for from Vancouver by telephone, the Point Grey police were notified and the body recovered. Duncan was uninjured, but Johnson was cut about the right thigh and he was removed to the Vancouver General hospital. Coroner Jeffs has been notified and an inquest will be held.

Douglas has been in the employ of the Dominion Express Company for 12 years and for the past three years has resided off and on in Vancouver. His run lay between this city and Calgary.

He was a son of James Douglas, proprietor of the Athletic saloon, Yonge street, Toronto. A brother, Richard Douglas, is a member of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, stationed at Medicine Hat. The deceased was unmarried. He roomed on Georgia street.

FIGHT AGAINST DEATH IN MIDAIR

Aeronaut Carried 2,000 Feet
by Blazing Balloon Before He Releases Parachute

Toledo, O., Sept. 12.—Hundreds of terrified spectators on the county fair grounds yesterday, breathlessly watched the desperate fight against death made by Frank Armstrong, an aeronaut, when he was carried 2,000 feet into the air by a blazing balloon. Armstrong was preparing to make an ascension, and was straightening out his parachute rigging when the balloon caught fire, and his startled helpers let go. Fighting like mad to release his parachute Armstrong was carried up in a tangle of ropes. He succeeded in cutting loose a moment before the flames reached the parachute and the blazing balloon collapsed. Armstrong made a successful "roy, landing inside the racetrack."

PREMIER McBRIDE ON THE NAVAL PROBLEM

Sir Wilfred Laurier's Policy Should be Expanded by Creation of Efficient Unit for Protection of Pacific Coast

Toronto, Sept. 12.—To-day's Globe publishes the following from its special correspondent in Victoria:

That Canada shall without delay proceed with the execution of a strong and adequate naval policy on the lines launched by Sir Wilfred Laurier, but further developed and expanded by the creation of an efficient Pacific unit, is British Columbia's expectation from Premier Borden and his government, according to Sir Richard McBride, the provincial premier.

The Pacific province is almost as vitally interested in the naval programme as are its Prairie sisters in the economic problem of securing for their products a larger market. In British Columbia the navy is the outstanding issue and the subject of comment and speculation on every hand. The demand for a Pacific unit is insistent. Apart from the protection it would afford, British Columbians see in its creation the foundation for future commercial development. It is pointed out that it would be the forerunner of maritime industry and expansion in that this province produces practically all the natural products required for shipbuilding, and, given a well-equipped base and the inspiration of a fleet unit, there would be developed on the coast a mammoth industry destined to increase the prosperity of the province and add to Canadian achievement.

"We have been opening up and developing the province all along the coast line," said Sir Richard McBride, when interviewed by the Globe, "and we want to insure our work by protecting it. To our mind the Asiatic menace to western Canada is a much more serious and substantial danger than the German peril to England. I regard this German war as an exceedingly unfortunate and ill-advised exploitation. It was my good fortune to visit Germany not long ago and learn for myself the spirit of friendliness which prevails both in official circles and among the people themselves. I feel satisfied that sanity and true statesmanship will dominate the councils of both countries and am confident that the German Emperor, under those conditions, will, in a manner consistent with dignity, reach an understanding with the Mother Country."

"On the other hand," proceeded the British Columbia premier, "we regard the Asiatic danger as a real one—one, at least, that we should adequately protect ourselves against. After the Japanese treaty ends, for instance—what? I am not an alarmist, but I believe it to be sound sense and true patriotism to insure the safety of our coast line, and to thus do something to strengthen the position of our country in the Empire. I would like you to think of this province as the western part of the Dominion rather than as a separate unit in the federation of provinces. We who are entrusted with the administration of affairs here feel that we are not alone trustees for this province, but that we are also trustees for the whole Canadian people, and that we have a duty in the discharge of that trust to consider the interests of all our brother Canadians."

"Then," Premier McBride was asked, "you in British Columbia stand for the Laurier naval policy?"

"Sir Wilfred Laurier," he replied, "is one of the greatest of Canadians. I admire and esteem him and recognize that he may have been on the right line, the carrying out of his naval policy, in our view, was inadequate and insufficient. He started on too small a scale. We in British Columbia are convinced of the wisdom—aye, and the necessity of a more substantial and effective Canadian navy. We believe in a naval force which will somewhat effectually be a protection to our Canadian coast."

"Then you oppose a policy of direct monetary contribution?" Sir Richard was asked.

"As a permanent policy the opinion of the people of British Columbia has never been tested upon it," the premier replied. "Our people are wholeheartedly and enthusiastically loyal, and, if emergency arose and the Canadian government contributed thirty, forty or fifty millions to meet it, I am satisfied that our people would approve the action. But," added Sir Richard, "British Columbia looks for and believes she has reason to expect from Mr. Borden some well-defined and promptly-executed naval policy which provides for the protection of the Pacific coast of Canada by a competent unit."

THREE PERISH FROM HUNGER AND COLD

Bodies of Missing Hunters Found on Mountain Near Juneau

Juneau, Alaska, Sept. 12.—The bodies of Leslie Oliver, John Shattuck and Dell Linscott, young men of Juneau and Douglas, who went hunting on Thursday, September 5, on Sheep Creek Mountain, and who were perished from hunger, cold and exposure while endeavoring to reach the top of the mountain, where there is a mine's cabin which would have sheltered them if they could have reached it.

The body of Leslie Oliver, aged 17 years, was found about half a mile from the summit of the mountain and above the timber line. Although the body was in plain sight from the crest and ridges the searchers must have passed and re-passed it many times. The boy's shoes were worn through by the rocks in his struggle to reach the summit. In his hand was a pistol, and by his side a shotgun.

The hundred men of the search parties, after the discovery of Oliver's body, concentrated their efforts in the neighborhood where it was found, and finally after several hours' search came upon the bodies of Shattuck and Linscott only a quarter of a mile distant. The bodies were brought to Juneau, which is in mourning.

John Shattuck was 21 years old, a graduate of the University of Oregon, and prominent in college athletics. His parents live at Gresham, Oregon. He was living with his brother, a banker of Juneau. Linscott was 20 years old, and a resident of Douglas.

The hunters set out without blankets or provisions, and were unfamiliar with the country. Soon after their departure Sheep Creek Mountain was enveloped by a dense fog, and when they did not return at night steps were taken to rescue them.

Wytheville, Va., Sept. 12.—Floyd Allen and his nephew, Claude, two leaders of the gang that shot up the Hillsville courthouse, have been sentenced to be electrocuted on November 22. They were found guilty of murder in the first degree several weeks ago.

"On the other hand," proceeded the British Columbia premier, "we regard the Asiatic danger as a real one—one, at least, that we should adequately protect ourselves against. SIR PERCY GIROUARD ARRIVES IN MONTREAL

Denies He is Visiting Canada
on Invitation of Borden Government

Montreal, Sept. 12.—Sir Percy Girouard, the famous French-Canadian administrator and railway builder, arrived on the Royal George after thirteen years absence from his native land. It was reported that his coming was in connection with the establishment of a Canadian navy and on the invitation of the Borden government. He states, however, that he has heard nothing of this, but admits he has come to look into "certain business propositions in the interest of his firm," Messrs. Armstrong, Whitworth and Co., the famous battleship and gun builders. He stated that he will go to Ottawa very shortly. It is said that he will visit Halifax, also. These circumstances are taken as indicating that his mission is definitely connected with the naval situation.

Swifts Provide Capital.
Chicago Packers Prime Movers in Scheme to Establish Plant in Australia.

Sydney, N. S. W., Sept. 12.—That the Swifts Meat Company, of Chicago, are the prime movers in the establishment of a meat trust in Australia was declared yesterday by the manager of the meat works, O. G. Malkow.

Although Mr. Malkow did not actually admit that the industry to be established at Brisbane, Queensland, was a "beef trust" for the continent of Australia, he nevertheless declared that the Swifts were providing the capital for the construction of the meat works, which amounts to the sum of $1,750,000.

STREET CAR STRIKE.

Duluth City Council Preparing to Take Steps to End Dispute.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 12.—A drenching rain added to the difficulties of citizens forced by the car strike to walk to-day. Mayor McCune is preparing to call a meeting of the city council to give authority to start suit and the city attorney is ready for prompt action. The methods used by Judge Lawrence De-gram to settle the difficulty will be invoked here. There was no violence last night.

HOME RULE ALL ROUND.

Winston Churchill Outlines Plans of Asquith Government.

Dundee, Scotland, Sept. 12.—During the course of a speech at Leche, a suburb of Dundee, Mr. Churchill outlined a system of federation for Great Britain. He said that England alone was too large for a single parliament which would be strong as an imperial parliament and the conflict of opinion would be disastrous. He suggested that England should be broken up into provinces such as Lancashire, Yorkshire, Midland and London, and pointed out that the United States divided its business through a larger number of parliaments in proportion to population than if there were ten or twelve parliaments in the United Kingdom. The British government, said the first lord, intended Irish Home Rule to be the forerunner of a genuine system of self-government in all four countries of the kingdom.

SENT THREATENING LETTERS TO EMPLOYER

Farm Hand Accused of Trying to Extort Money by Black Hand Methods

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 12.—After ten days of hard work in digging potatoes, ostensibly as a farm hand in the employ of August Fisher, J. W. Sampson, a special officer detailed by the sheriff to ferret out the writer of Black Hand letters to Fisher, Wednesday at noon detected Arthur Quincy Hoffman, a fellow-farm hand, in the act, Sampson says, of setting fire to Fisher's barn, and arrested him as the writer of Black Hand letters. Hoffman is now in the county jail.

Fisher is a wealthy rancher, living one and one-half miles north of the city limits on Bethel road. With his wife and five children he has lived in a condition of terror for the past two months, sleeping in a small room, underground, following threats of dynamite and blood if $2,500 in gold was not paid to the Black Hand. Hoffman has been at work on the farm for the past three months, and has been intensely interested in the Black Hand letters, promising his employer to furnish him protection so far as he could. Hoffman's zeal has gone to the length of running out of the barn at night, and firing his revolver at an imaginary Black Hand, who was supposed to flee into the darkness at his approach.

Letters found by Fisher at his place warned him to send a messenger down the road with $2,500 or lose his life and the lives of his family. In July his barn was destroyed by fire, but Hoffman, who slept in the barn, made a miraculous escape. More letters followed, all promising death unless the money was paid.

Fisher appealed to the sheriff two weeks ago, and subsequently Sampson was sent to help Hoffman in the farm work, and was given a room in the barn with him. The latter was at first suspicious, but the detective proved to be such an excellent potato digger that he finally got his co-worker's confidence. Hoffman expressed sympathy for the Black Hand, and thought Fisher should give up his $2,500 willingly. Other confidences made it apparent that Sampson was on the right track.

Wednesday, at dinner Hoffman left the table, and went to the barn. Two members of the family watched him go, and Sampson followed him, each in time to see him set fire to the barn. Sampson put out the flames, found the half-burned candle that caused the blaze, and arrested Hoffman.

Instantaneous photography has proved that a horse at full trot has its four feet off the ground at once at one section of its stride.

ESCORT OF LAUNCHES FOR ROYAL PARTY

Suggestion Made by Resident of Nanaimo Approved by Mayor Shaw

Nanaimo, Sept. 12.—An escort of sixty or seventy gaily decorated launches for the royal steamer from Protection Point to the C. P. R. wharf. This is the latest suggestion for the reception of the Duke of Connaught on the occasion of his visit here on September 27.

This original idea comes from L. Wain and has been approved of by Mayor Shaw. It is thought that the novelty of the idea would make the visit of the royal party to Nanaimo stand out from all the other receptions tendered him in the West. There will be a holiday in the city on the occasion of the Duke's visit, and as most of the launches in the city will be out for a run on the harbor if the day is fine, little trouble is anticipated in making the affair a success.

Mr. Wain has been asked to take charge of the preliminary arrangements.

MINISTER ADDRESSES LABOR CONVENTION

Hon. T. W. Crothers Advises Delegates to Keep Public Opinion on Their Side

Three Rivers, Que., Sept. 12.—"Try to keep public opinion on your side," was the advice of Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor, to members of the Canadian Federation of Labor, assembled here in convention. "I am glad," he said, "to find there is so much respect for law and order in this province that you are not proposing any revolutionary means such as are being proposed in some parts of Canada. Get public opinion on your side and you will get almost everything you want."

The visit of the minister of labor was the chief feature of the afternoon. Hon. Mr. Crothers was introduced by Victor Dubrell, mayor of Three Rivers, and President Moffett, and he greeted personally each of the delegates after receiving an address of welcome.

In showing how legislation of a century had bettered the lot of the workers, especially of women and children, the speaker said trades unions had done a great deal, and he asked why should people challenge the right of labor to unite since the legal medical professions exercised their rights.

"The workmen of this country," he declared, "have not got what they are entitled to."

Examining causes of unrest, the minister blamed employers for the failure to recognize that a man was not a mere adjunct to a machine, and he laid it down that employers must be willing to pay a living wage, such as would make decent food, clothing and other necessities possible. An employer who had a profitable business and did not give this living wage should be denounced by the press, pulpit and platform.

The speaker regarded strikes in the same light as war, as only to be used in the very last resort. He stated that of 164 awards under the Trades Disputes Act, only one showed the workers' viewpoint to be groundless.

At the conclusion of the minister's address, he and the company of delegates at the invitation of the city, were taken around the city in motor cars, inspected several large industrial establishments.

At the morning session the appointment of a permanent chairman of their cause under the Trades Disputes Act was advocated in an amendment proposed by Delegate Peppon, who contended that such an appointment would be heard by arbitrators more conversant with procedure and less prejudiced. In the discussion which ensued, Secretary Mercus, President Moffett, and others opposed the change, expressing the opinion that workmen would probably be worse off under it.

Victor Dubrell, representing the federal department of labor, made an explanation of the act, and said that this idea had been considered before, but was regarded as impossible owing to the fact that thirty or more cases might be under hearing from coast to coast. He denied the allegation of some speakers that politics could creep into such appointments, and said nearly all cases where the government was called on to make a nomination it was favorable to the workers. He also asserted that the department was friendly towards labor organizations so long as they were properly organized.

Ultimately this resolution was withdrawn.

CEMENT IMPORTS GROW.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Importations of cement to Canada continue to increase at a rapid rate as a result of the temporary reduction in duty of one-half. During August the importations totalled 659,417 hundredweight, valued at $250,735. In August, 1911, the imports were only 254,423 hundredweight, valued at $109,243.

The reduction will continue in force until October 31. Figures have already been issued showing large increases in imports during June and July.

The government in the course of the next few weeks will consider the question of maintaining in force the reduction in duties, by way of a rebate established in June, and in doing so will consider whether or not the cement manufacturers are satisfied to accept protection as Hon. T. W. White has shown they had been receiving up to June, owing to the operation of the tariff and railway rates.

CANADA'S FOREIGN TRADE GROWING

Customs Returns Show Large Increase Over Previous Twelve Months

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Correct customs figures for the year ending March 31, 1912, show that the aggregate foreign trade of the country was $74,637,794, made up of exports, $35,317,250, and imports, $39,320,544. The total duty collected was $7,576,036, as compared with $7,312,367 in 1910-11.

The United Kingdom was the best customer of Canada, taking $15,853,413 of her exports. The United States took $120,534,634. Other countries to which Canadian goods were exported were West Indies, $6,900,940; South America, $4,825,030; Newfoundland, $4,284,313; Australia, $2,947,015; Germany, $3,814,814; Belgium, $3,732,222; France, $2,123,702.

Canada bought most heavily from the United States, her imports from that country being $356,354,475; those from Great Britain were $116,907,022; while those from other countries were: France, $11,744,664; Germany, $11,090,005; South America, $10,533,310; West Indies, $5,490,878; Switzerland, $3,458,006; Belgium, $3,638,419; China and Japan, $3,112,982.

Of the duty collected, $49,177,584 came from the United States and $22,397,609 from Great Britain. The percentage of duty on all goods imported for consumption was 16. The trade was divided among the provinces as follows:

Province.	Exports.	Imports.
Ontario	$108,554,334	$240,262,151
Quebec	123,104,536	164,349,654

The customs revenue was derived from the several provinces as follows: Ontario, $34,326,700; Quebec, $23,047,221; New Brunswick, $1,842,036; Nova Scotia, $3,074,663; Manitoba, $5,781,843; British Columbia, $10,612,928; P. E. I., $130,604; Alberta, $2,137,466; Saskatchewan, $2,452,052; Yukon, $163,338.

MUST FURNISH REFERENCES.

Nanaimo, Sept. 12.—At the board of license commissioners meeting Chief Neen brought up the matter of the advisability of applicants for licenses presenting references when they apply for licenses. The chief thought that all newcomers to the city in the liquor trade should have good references. He was satisfied that this method would save much trouble in the future.

In answer to a question of Mayor Shaw, if he attached much importance to references, the chief said he did to the references with responsible names attached. Anyone going from here to other cities, he said, had to have proper recommendations before being granted licenses.

Another matter that the chief brought up was the presentation of proper plans before alterations were made in bar rooms. He thought that these should all be presented to the board through the one channel.

After hearing the chief's explanation the board ruled that hereafter all plans of alterations to bar rooms would have to come to the board through the chief of police.

DRUGGED AND ROBBED.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Giving "Knockout drops" to men and robbing them after they became unconscious has been carried on as a regular business in Chicago, according to a confession to the police by Gertrude Sutter, Paul Folsom, employed in the office of the clerk of the county court, who also said he was a brother of a master-in-chancery, was arrested with the woman after she had charged he lured victims for the plot. A number of women's diamond rings were found in Folsom's pockets.

SUFFRAGETTE'S NOVEL RUSE.

Dundee, Scotland, Sept. 12.—A suffragette named Clunas went to the post-office here with a card addressed to herself addressed to the residence where Mr. Winston Churchill, the first Lord of the Admiralty is stopping. She requested the postal authorities to deliver her by express messenger.

In accordance with the regulations of the post-office, they were obliged to comply, and took the "human parcel" to its destination. Mr. Churchill was absent when the parcel arrived, and his secretary refused to accept the woman, who withdrew much chagrined.

LETTER FROM POPE

The Pontiff Calls Attention of Eucharistic Congress to Need for Care of Young

Vienna, Sept. 13.—Both the early services and the sectional debates held at the Cathedral of St. Stephen yesterday in connection with the 23rd Eucharistic conference, were largely attended by members of the congress and by the general public.

Emperor Francis Joseph, under whose patronage the congress is being held, and the other members of the imperial household received communion yesterday in the Hofburg church. The papal letter brought by Cardinal Van Rossum to Vienna thanked the organizers of the Eucharistic congress, praised Emperor Francis Joseph and members of the imperial household and wished the congress a brilliant success. The pope called special attention to the need for care of the young lest they be led astray by deceitful teachings and temptations of the flesh. The pontiff, in conclusion, conferred the apostolic blessing on the conference, the emperor and the imperial household.

Cardinal Francis Nagel, archbishop of Vienna, in the course of his speech said that the congress should be devoid of political character and should be purely an ecclesiastical celebration.

Election of License and Police Commissioners by Popular Vote Favored

Nelson, Sept. 13.—Amendment of the Municipal Clauses Act which would remove the present limit of 5 mills on land for taxes for school purposes so that property owners might know exactly what the schools were costing them, was urged before the municipal commission by Mayor Annabel, of Nelson; Mayor Garland, of Kaslo; Mayor McNish, of Soan City, and W. E. Wason, Nelson city clerk.

Election of police and license commissioners by popular vote in place of the present system of appointment by the government, uniform system of accounting and account forms, government inspection of civic accounts, a two-year term for aldermen, provincial censorship of moving pictures and vaudeville, higher licenses for tent shows and pedlars, taxation of Dominion and Provincial property within municipalities, issuance of short-term debentures which might be taken up by savings bank depositors, and the abolition of the property qualification for mayors and aldermen, were also favored.

Another point brought up was the alleged unfairness of school taxation as regards city school districts outside municipal limits. It being pointed out that only 5 mills could be raised outside the city, while the property owners within the municipality had to bear the burden of paying the additional expenses which had to be met from general revenue.

Other witnesses included E. K. Beerton, city auditor, and J. W. Holmes.

Vancouver, Sept. 13.—J. Harting Turner, of Cosmoack, Ayrshire, Scotland, agent of the Duke of Portland's Scottish estates, has returned to town from Prince Rupert. He visited British Columbia last year.

Mr. Turner is chairman of the Aspen Grove Land Company, Ltd., owning about 16,000 acres in the Nicola district and in which the Duke of Portland owns a large interest. While stating that he was greatly pleased with the prospects of the new corporation, Mr. Turner explained that he was unable at this juncture to outline the plan of development of the lands acquired near Aspen Grove. The Duke of Portland, he intimated, is deeply interested in Western Canada and Oregon.

Manitoba—R. A. Riggs, Winnipeg. Saskatchewan—Macallister, Moose Jaw. Alberta and British Columbia have a federation.

Montreal secured the meeting of the congress for next year, beating out St. John by a close vote of 98 to 96.

The following letter, signed by Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of railways and canals, was received:

"I beg to acknowledge receipt of your telegram of Sept. 10 in reference to the Grand Trunk Pacific railway and its treatment of its employees. It is, and will be, the aim of the government, to secure, as far as possible, fair treatment for the employees of public service companies in receipt of government aid, and we are still hopeful that the difficulties heretofore existing in the Grand Trunk Pacific will be satisfactorily adjusted."

At the morning session there was a heated debate on a resolution introduced by Delegate Charles Nicholson, of the Twin City Trades Council, Berlin, recommending that a collection be taken up at the convention for two members of the Industrial Workers of the World now in prison at Lawrence, Mass. The resolution was sent back to the executive for further consideration.

CANADA AS FIELD FOR EMIGRANTS

Earl of Stanhope Says Dominion Offers More Advantages Than Other Places

Vancouver, Sept. 13.—The Earl of Stanhope and T. Sturgis, of London, Eng., who have been touring the prairie provinces with a party headed by A. M. Grenfell, a famous British financier, are in the city. This is not the peer's first visit to British Columbia. His Grace was here four years ago and has shown faith in the province by making a considerable investment in an important industry. The Earl, who gives promise of making his mark in politics as a member of the Unionist party, was formerly a captain in the Grenadier Guards and saw service in the South African war. He succeeded his father, the sixth Earl, seven years ago, and owns 8,000 acres. His heir is a younger brother. On his way west he attended the stampede at Calgary.

The cities of western Canada have undergone a wonderful transformation since my last visit four years ago. I can scarcely recognize Vancouver," said the Earl yesterday. "I regard Canada, all things considered, as a more desirable field for British emigration than Australia, and I speak from a knowledge of both countries. In my opinion it is only a question of time until the population of the Dominion will equal that of the United Kingdom. I do not know of any place which offers better advantages to artisans and farmers than those existing in Canada."

"I hope British Columbia will be preserved for the white race. I read a recent work by an American, Homer Lea, and was much impressed with his picture of the destiny of the Japanese on the Pacific coast of this continent and possibly the same applies to British Columbia. So far as our alliance with Japan is concerned, I believe it will last as long as it suits the purposes of Japan. I look on the Chinaman in a different light. He is out here and seems to fill certain gaps admirably and does not seem animated with any aggressive spirit."

ONE NAVY.

The address which was presented to H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught at Edmonton emphasized the loyalty of the people of Alberta. The framers of this address used forms of speech which expressed repudiation of the charge that had been levelled against them because of their vote on the reciprocity issue last September and again last March. They effectively delivered themselves from the reproaches and slanders heaped upon them by the Tory press of their own and other provinces. Because they did this they were attacked again by the defenders of the empire for having introduced a subject of political controversy into their address. The address in no way referred to any political question, and could be so construed only by those who strain at gnats while swallowing camels.

The incident is interesting because of the design chosen for the electric arch under which H. R. H. is to pass when entering Victoria. The motto chosen for this spectacular welcome is "One King, One Flag, One Navy." Coming so soon after the use of that phrase by political leaders and the slanderous imputations that are associated therewith it may or may not be regarded as being "political" in its significance. We are disposed to think that it was not intended to reflect upon the loyalty of any particular section of our citizenship. Yet if the Edmonton instance was one calling for rectification the present instance is much more of that character.

While there is no difference of opinion in Canada as to "One King" or even "One Flag," the suggestiveness of "One Navy" is a clear breach of political etiquette owing to the anomalous interpretation of which the term is capable. It is reasonably open to the suggestion that an "autonomous" navy is not tolerable, and this is a political question. It is debatable and the declaration of the province for "One Navy" may be reasonably understood to be a political design.

It is very questionable whether H. R. H. will consider himself the more warmly welcomed in Victoria because the official welcome contains a reference which, however innocent its intention, is in exceedingly bad taste.

THE DOUKHOBORS.

The provincial government has appointed a commissioner to investigate the condition and complaints of the Doukhobor colonists in the interior of the province, and it remains to be disclosed how much the commission will discover concerning these peculiar people that is not already well known. It is not unlikely that the whole British Columbia colony will remove to Colorado unless what they are pleased to call their "grievances" are removed by the government. The history of the Doukhobors is an open book and the conditions under which they were induced to come to Canada in the first instance are well known. They have become dissatisfied with their treatment in Canada, particularly with the laws of British Columbia, and according to Volodimer Krugliak, who voices their complaints in the New York Sun, they believe that they have been unfairly used, and that promises made to them when they were induced to move from Russia have not been kept. As far as complaints are concerned it might be possible for Canada to file certain strong objections to some of the habits of the Doukhobors, admirable people though they may be in many respects.

When the negotiations for the Doukhobor immigration were made through Count Leo Tolstoy, it was understood that the new comers were to be granted religious and civil liberty. Every Canadian believes that he enjoys this liberty, but the Doukhobor interpretation of the word differs from ours, and that is how the first trouble arose with the government. There was friction over the settlement duties. According to the communal practices of the sect the Doukhobors cultivated their land in one block. The law provides that a part of each quarter section shall be cultivated three years. When the Doukhobors appeared to ask for their patents they did not ask for any individual quarter sections but for a block of 2,000 quarter sections. There was no provision made by the law for any such wholesale transaction, and the demand could not be complied with. Moreover, the fact that the Doukhobors refused to become British subjects complicated affairs. Finally they gave up the land rather than comply with the regulations.

They retained only 15 acres for each homestead, and leaving 2,000 of their brethren on this land, the others trekked to British Columbia, where they purchased 10,000 acres at the junction of the Kootenay and Columbia rivers. Here they have established a thriving settlement with several important industries. They have built an enormous pumping station, and have planned a vast scheme of irrigation, but Peter Verigin says they are ready to give it all up and move to the United States unless the British Columbia authorities cease from vexing them with laws. These laws are chiefly those having to do with reporting births and deaths within the community. In spite of many warnings, the Doukhobors refused to provide this information, and in June last two of them were arrested for not making declarations as to the death of their relatives. They were sentenced to three months' imprisonment, at a time when, as Peter Verigin remarks, "no hands can be spared by us at all."

An officer who went to subpoena some of the Doukhobor women as witnesses was thrown bodily out of a house, and his summonses torn up. In order to prevent the police from securing any evidence the Doukhobors of Grand Forks plowed up their graveyard and harrowed it level. The whole community took a vow of silence, and even the children refused to answer any questions. They protested against the action of the police, but were informed that they would have to comply with the laws of the province, and it was this news that prompted them to communicate with the State Immigration Commissioner of Colorado. The answer they have received is said to be favorable. They have been assured that they will not be called upon to become American citizens, that they may regulate their own domestic affairs, and will not be hindered in their religious worship.

The Doukhobors are one of the most remarkable religious sects in the world. They are practical Socialists, holding everything in common, and their motto is "The Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood." They have no written laws or rules, and nothing is fixed or moulded in their worship. Theft is unknown among the Doukhobors, as is drunkenness, smoking, profanity, brawling and lying. They are vegetarians, and will not eat even eggs. Nevertheless they are said to be rugged and healthy. The great stumbling block in their relations with government is that the Doukhobors recognize no authority over a man but God. They have so far compromised on this point as to pay their taxes, but believe that having done this much they should be permitted to do as they please in regard to all other affairs of life.

That the commissioner will discover and report all these things must be assumed. What he will recommend under these peculiar conditions cannot be guessed. The Doukhobor followers of Tolstoy are undoubtedly fanatics in their interpretation of religious liberty, and perhaps equally so in their willingness to suffer any wrong rather than obey a human law. Probably the easiest way out of the difficulty would be to buy up their improvements, give them a few thousand dollars and encourage them to leave the country. Because they have no votes and will never have votes they can never become of practical service to the government. Let them be ordered to avail.

A PROGRESSIVE INDUSTRY.

It needs only a superficial review of the annual issue of the Canada Lumberman and Woodworker to become impressed with the development of the lumber and wood manufacturing industry in the Dominion. The annual number cannot fail to be of great interest to those directly engaged in the lumbering and timber industries, but its logical arrangement of the natural development of the industry in Canada affords a reliable key to the study of one of the chief features of national progress. One of the most notable features of the publication is that the pulp and paper industries occupy a much more prominent and a larger place in the annual records of progress.

Out of the old-established lumbering industry there has sprung up in recent years a great new industry, which promises to make Canada the largest producer of pulpwood, pulp and paper in the world. The last year has seen almost incredible strides in this direction and the coming year promises to show even greater developments. Our position as a pulpwood producing country has become established. As a pulp producing country we are now attracting the attention of the world. The progress of events has been the usual one in a new industry. First of all we produced the raw material, pulpwood. Then capital commenced to come our way for the working up of the raw material into a more finished article. Finally, we see to-day the first stages of the complete development of our natural resources, viz., the establishing of mills for the production of paper. At first we were anxious lest our raw material should be exploited solely for the benefit of the manufacturing industry in foreign countries. The economic laws of supply and demand, however, have worked in our favor and to-day we find Canada, by reason of its pulpwood resources and its wealth of water power, coming steadily to the front as a producer of the finished article, paper. Under such conditions, those engaged in the lumbering industry have naturally taken a great interest in these new developments and in a great many cases have taken their part in bringing them about.

It is encouraging to note that, in the development of the pulp and paper industry of the Dominion, the province of British Columbia is coming into its own place, and at the present rate of progress will before many years occupy a position close to the lead.

The McNamara outrages have found a parallel, if not more than a parallel, on the side of capital. It is regarded as beyond question that dynamite was planted in several places in the vicinity of the Lawrence mills at the time the operatives were on strike, not by any labor agency, but by persons in the interest of the owners, that it might be discovered, and that it might appear as another labor outrage. One person on whom suspicion of complicity in this heinous crime fell has committed suicide. One or two have been arrested. Whoever was guilty of it is unfit to live among men, for his crime not only involved the basest of slanders, but was of a sort to apply the fire of hell to the tinder of social unrest. If the president of the Wool Trust is brought to trial, being already under arrest, for this outrage the course of the trial will be watched with interest as keen as that with which the trial of the McNamaras was followed.

The clothes the modern women wear are shocking, truly shocking. They cling so tight they almost tear. And show a stretch of stocking.

But we must let them have their way. For though they are a sight to-day, they may be worse to-morrow.

SILVER TROWEL FOR MINISTER TO-MORROW

Handsome Memento for Laying Foundation Stone of High School

The programme for the laying of the foundation stone of the new High School to-morrow afternoon has been practically completed.

A beautiful silver trowel, engraved with a brief record of the circumstances under which it is presented, will be handed by the chairman of the school board, George Jay, to the minister of education, Hon. Dr. Young, for laying the stone. A box containing records of the event, and mementoes of the period, will be placed in position before the stone is lowered on its foundations.

Given fine weather it is expected there will be a large attendance, as most of the public authorities in the city have been invited to attend the function, which will commence at 3 o'clock. Rev. W. Leslie Gray has been invited to officiate the opening prayer. The Bishop of Columbia will be asked to pronounce the benediction if he can accept the trustees' invitation.

It is nearly eleven years since a similar ceremony took place under Masonic auspices for the present High School, the school being opened at the fall term of 1902. High school instruction in Victoria dates from 1876.

The present magnificent structure now being constructed by Dinsdale & Malcolm will be one of the finest examples of High school building in Western Canada.

The Victoria school board wishes it to be understood that everyone is cordially invited to the ceremony to-morrow afternoon. The ceremony will be performed at the corner of Grant street and Fernwood road.

To add to the already very creditable list of Canadian musicians there is a new name, says a London correspondent. Miss Rhoda Simpson, a Winnipeg girl of marked talent as a violinist, has been playing at a great many big things in London this season, and the critics have said very nice things about her ability, her sympathy, her skill and her prospects for the future. Miss Simpson has been studying in Germany for some time, where she received much encouragement. The admirers of her work include the Landgraf of Hesse, who was most enthusiastic about her playing and entertained her as a guest at his castle. Miss Simpson has also given recitals this summer in London, and Lord and Lady Strathcona and Mr. J. Norton Griffiths, M.P., and Mrs. Griffiths gave their patronage. Among her friends to whom she is indebted for much encouragement and sympathy are the Hon. Robert Rogers and Mrs. Rogers, of Winnipeg. Miss Simpson is a charming girl as well as an artist. She has youth, good looks, delightful manners and great ability, and what more should a girl want to make a success of her life?

The following paragraph appeared in the Manchester Evening News of July 26th, 1912: "The Council of the Royal College of Surgeons at a meeting yesterday admitted as a member of the college Miss Gertrude May Flumerfelt of Manchester University and the Royal Free Hospital, London, who has passed the required examinations without a failure in any part." Miss Flumerfelt is a daughter of Mr. A. C. Flumerfelt, of Pemberton street.

The Duke of Sutherland and party, who have been spending some time in Victoria, left this morning for Vancouver. From the Terminal City they will journey to Seattle and take the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railroad to the East. They are sailing from New York by the Olympic for Southampton.

W. W. Foster, deputy minister of public works, who, accompanied by his wife, went to Harrison Hot Springs last week owing to blood-poisoning contracted during his stay at the Alpine Club at Vermillion, is very much improved in health and will probably return to Victoria early next week.

Sheriff and Mrs. T. J. Armstrong and Miss Armstrong are in the city from New Westminster on a brief visit, and are registered at the Empress Hotel.

M. H. McCabe, of the Camosun Realty Company, is rapidly improving from his injuries sustained when he was thrown from an automobile on September 1.

For Comfort and Service Our Showing of Women's Long Coats Will Meet All Demands

WELL-FITTING COAT that imparts that snug and comfortable feeling so agreeable to experience when the weather is cold and miserable is a delight to all women who find it imperative to venture out of doors when their preference would be to remain in their cosy rooms. TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, September 13, 1887.

Queen Victoria's jubilee presents were opened to public view yesterday.

Three Englishmen and three Americans are to meet in Washington soon, to talk over the Canadian Fisheries question, with the hope of settling the long disputed problem as to the boundary line between Canada and the United States.

Captain Webber, of the Pacific Steamship Service, assures the Times that Esquimalt has been finally selected as the port of call for the trans-Pacific steamships. Those who attach blame to the captain for not having the steamers call at Victoria are doing him an injustice. The insurance question was a stumbling block.

At an informal meeting of the city council last night, at which a quorum was not present, the report of Mr. Peter Summerfield was informally read. It recommended a 15-inch main from Elk Lake to some point on the east side of the city, having an elevation of 150 feet above high water mark. This point will be 42 feet above the lake, and the fall will be equal to seven feet per mile, and give an effective discharge of 1,000,000 imperial gallons.

Mr. J. L. Beckwith, of this city, was registered at the St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal, last week.

Hon. Mr. Justice Crease left this morning for Donald, where he will hold court for the District of Kootenay.

WILL CATER AT THE FAIR.

W. C. T. U. Will Have Tent at Coming Exhibition.

The W. C. T. U. held their regular business meeting yesterday afternoon at the First Baptist church, the vice-president, Mrs. Frank Andrews, occupying the chair in the continued absence of the president. The principal matter under discussion was as to the nature of the work which should be undertaken at the annual agricultural fair which opens on September 24, and it was decided that the union should have a tent in the fair grounds for the sale of light refreshments and the distribution of literature, the result of last year having already been let. Volunteers who will give their time and service for the whole or part of the time are requested to send their names to the secretary, while gifts of cake will be much appreciated.

During the afternoon ice treasurer's report was read, and showed a balance of $14.25 in the bank. Discussion arose as to a suitable place to hold future meetings of the union, Mrs. Andrews pointing out that, though the largest organization in the city, the W. C. T. U. had no permanent place of meeting. Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Gillespie were finally appointed to arrange for the rental of a room until the union's own building is completed. The matter of the appointment of a police matron came up during the afternoon, and it was pointed out that the necessity for this should be placed before the civic authorities. The appointment of a treasurer was left over until the next meeting. After deciding that the officers and building committee should be entrusted with the matter of the sale of the property on Store street, the meeting adjourned.

COURT OF REVISION.

Two Appeals Determined by Aldermen This Morning.

A court of revision on half a dozen streets, completed for various local improvement works of a permanent character, such as paving, sidewalks, etc., was held this morning at the city hall.

The streets concerned were Queen's avenue, Third, Richardson, Mason, Pakenham, and Simcoe streets. There were two applications before the aldermen, namely, Mr. Justice Irving and George S. Russell. His lordship had two applications, which affected different properties.

The court confirmed the assessments subject to examination into the protests about lateral connections, these matters to be turned up in the engineering department, and an examination made on the ground before final action is taken by the court.

Mr. Lawler's Address.—The public are cordially invited to attend the lecture to be given at South park school to-night by James Lawler, the secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association. His subject will be: "The Trees of Canada."

BRO. HENNESSEY HERE.

Prominent Member of Irish Christian Brothers Visiting Victoria.

A distinguished educationalist in the person of Rev. Brother Hennessey, of the Irish Christian Brothers, a religious order founded by Edmund Ignatius Rice, of Waterford, in 1802, was a visitor in the city yesterday in the course of a tour of inspection of Canada and the United States, while here being a guest of the Bishop of Victoria, who is anxious to have a school established in this city. During the day Rev. Brother Hennessey visited St. Ann's kindergarten, leaving by the afternoon boat for Vancouver, where he is to meet the Knights of Columbus to consult with them on matters educational.

The Irish Christian Brothers have grown in a little over a hundred years to a wide-spread influence, not only in Ireland—where there are seventy-five houses under their control, the mother house being at Marino, Dublin, where Rev. Brother Whitty, superior of the order, lives—but in England, New Zealand, Kimberley, Rome, Gibraltar and Australia, at the last-named place about fifty houses having been instituted. Last July Mr. and Mrs. Asquith visited the Artale Industrial school in Dublin at the time of his visit to Ireland, this school being under the jurisdiction of the order, both the visitors expressing their admiration for the system carried out in this institution.

JAILED FOR DEBT.

Contractor at Jordan River Ordered Released This Morning by Judge Lampman.

The arrest of a Russian contractor, J. Plovansh, at Jordan River, which occurred recently on the belief by one Nurka (John) Dika, that the Russian was about to leave Victoria without paying his debt, was mentioned before Judge Lampman in county court chambers this morning by Oscar Bass, solicitor for Plovansh, on an application for Plovansh's release, which was subsequently ordered by his honor. Plovansh was arrested at Jordan River when he was about to go to Seattle to renew a lease of property he owns there. He left behind him, according to an affidavit presented to the court this morning, plant on which he swore to being at least $200 free. He swore to owing the plaintiff $27, while the plaintiff alleged a debt of $200, and had him arrested because he believed Plovansh to be absconding. Mr. Bass pointed out to his honor that in the capias the plaintiff was given as John Dika Nurka, and in the affidavit as John Dika, while in the summons he is known as Nurka (John) Dika. On the ground that the proceedings against Plovansh were hopelessly irregular his honor granted Mr. Bass' application. Mr. Hall appeared on the other side.

THE PRINCESS THEATRE.

The bill for the coming week at the Princess theatre is an excellent melodrama entitled "The Plunger," and it should prove very satisfactory to the clientele of the house, as it has a most interesting plot, filled with good comedy and dramatic situations. The characters are all well defined, and the Williams players will, in "The Plunger," have a chance to display their well known dramatic talent.

A man has been for a long time systematically robbing his employers. It is impossible for him to avoid discovery much longer, so he forges a chain of circumstantial evidence around a fellow clerk named Walter Glyndon, so well that Walter is charged with the crime and finds it impossible to prove his innocence. Although he is not brought to trial, he is disgraced and disowned by his family and friends with the exception of one Dexter Digt, who proves himself a real friend, and never rests until he has succeeded in clearing the innocent one, and bringing the guilty to justice. Dexter Digt is rather a wild young man, and has been named "The Plunger" on account of his wild plunges in Wall street, which always turns out satisfactorily to him. This part will be taken by Howard Foster, who, no doubt, will show a new phase of his ability as a comedian. Miss Mildred Page is also cast for a comedy part, that of a young Irish widow. She has played the part several times and excels in it. A strong flirtation is carried on between her and the Plunger which creates a great deal of interest. Richard Lonsdale will be back in what his friends like him best in—intense dramatic work—as he plays Walter Glyndon and Miss Hallie Mitchell will play the leading juvenile role. "The Plunger" should prove a winner as it is filled with laughter, pathos, thrilling situations, and exciting climaxes. It will be played all week. Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Seattle, Sept. 12.—McCreery's overthrow of first base scored two runs in the second inning of yesterday's game with two on bases, following Whaling's tap along the third base line. at that time recommended that he be signed. Bob has pitched wonderful ball in the intermediate league of this city and one or two games senior, but like Kanteheer, he can stand a lot of experience. At the early part of the season he tried to make a team in the state league.

Hap Myers reached the century mark for stealing bases at Portland yesterday. Hap has two weeks more to play and will likely make the count about 115 bases or so for the season.

"Pinkie" Grindle, the snappy little catcher of the Victoria baseball club, who was laid up here a couple of months ago, drew a starter in the Salmon sweep and consequently is two or three hundred dollars richer than he was last week. All fans will be glad to hear of "Pinkie's" success.

SPLIT DIFFERENCE AS TO WEIGHTS

Bayley-Barrieau Scrap Probably on Thanksgiving Day in Victoria

It looks as though the proposed boxing contest between Ernie Barrieau, amateur lightweight champion of the Pacific Northwest, and Joe Bayley, of Victoria, champion of Canada, will take place on Thanksgiving Day in this city. The difficulties regarding the weight have been smoothed over by concessions from each side, and now there remains only the actual signing of the articles to clinch the match. Morris Condon, acting for Joe Bayley, offered to let Barrieau weigh in at 133 pounds at 7 o'clock on the evening of the contest, while Chet McIntyre, manager for Barrieau, held out for 8 o'clock. They finally compromised on 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Condon will promote the bout and just as soon as he completes the details at this end the articles will be signed. McIntyre wants a full month to put his protégé in shape for his professional debut, and the holiday will probably be settled upon for the battle. Tremendous interest is being evinced in the bout by Vancouver athletic enthusiasts and it is altogether likely that a special boat will be chartered to bring them over to the mill.

OLD SOCCER RIVALS PLAY ON SUNDAY

Ladysmith to Play Nanaimo for First Time in Two Years

Nanaimo, Sept. 12.—The soccer season of 1912 will be ushered in Sunday with a game between Ladysmith and the Nanaimo Thistles, the latter team being last year's Nanaimo city team. The change in name having been decided upon at the request of the Victoria Football Club, which was of the opinion there was too much sameness between the names Nanaimo United and Nanaimo City to allow of the games being the drawing cards they would otherwise be. The games will be played on the cricket grounds commencing at 3 o'clock, and as this will be the first appearance of a Ladysmith team on a Nanaimo field for two years, there should be a record attendance. It is expected the league will be opened October 1, and the management are arranging for a visit from the strong Westham Island eleven in the near future, so ere many days have passed the fans will be treated to some splendid games of soccer. At a meeting held last night the following team was selected to represent the Nanaimo Thistles in Sunday's game: Goal, Shepherd; backs, Murray and English; halves, Dawson, Mitchell and Thompson; forwards, Walker, Bedford, McCulloch, J. McGuckie and Lightfoot; reserves, Maxwell, Menzies, Taylor, Scott and Dunlop.

BAUM WILL CRUSH ROWDYISM IN LEAGUE

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 12.—After receiving a telegraphic report of Monday's baseball riot at Los Angeles, President A. T. Baum, of the Coast League, suspended Catcher Clarence Brooks, of the Los Angeles club. Brooks' refusal to accept the decision of Umpire Phil Kneil in regard to the former's right field drive, which Kneil called a foul, precipitated the riot and brought a mob down on the field. "I intend to make a further investigation of this case," said President Baum, "and will impose fines if I find that other players were disorderly. We have decided, once for all, to put an

For more than half a century the careful purchaser has insisted upon the original ROGER'S Silverplate. The genuine is known by the trade-mark "1847 Rogers' Bros." This is the heaviest tripleplate made. There are many instances where spoons, forks, etc., bearing the "1847 Rogers' Bros." trade-mark have become cherished possessions as the result of daily use and association through a lifetime, and have been handed down as family heirlooms. Thus does the famous brand of silverware justify its title "SILVERPLATE THAT WEARS," a guarantee superior to claims made for brands that have not been long enough in use to test their quality by time. SMALL LIST BROUGHT NORTH BY UMATILLA

Travel Northward From San Francisco Light—210 Tons Unloaded Here

Bringing one of the smallest lists of passengers that has come north from San Francisco for some time, the Pacific Coast steamship Umatilla, Capt. Reilly, arrived in port early this morning. There has been a slackening off in northbound travel from the Bay City lately. All told there were but 98 passengers aboard the Umatilla, of which number about thirty were for Victoria. The Umatilla made a slow run up the coast, being delayed by head winds and a choppy sea.

The Umatilla brought north from San Francisco 210 tons of general cargo for Victoria, including 50 tons of plaster for Evans, Coleman & Evans, 500 sacks of wood shavings for the Giant Powder Company, and large shipments of canned goods, vegetables and fruits.

It was about 8 o'clock this morning before the steamship had completed the discharging of her cargo and she then proceeded to Sound ports.

The passengers, who disembarked here were as follows:

Wm. Peterson and wife, F. Battle, R. Battle, G. D. Marr, W. A. Box, A. E. White, Mabel Nelson, Helen Armstrong, Flo Rogers, Ira Leibhardt, Jenny Leibhardt, T. Thomas, S. Thomas, Mrs. Grimsshaw, Mrs. Beauchamp, S. A. Pope, wife and child, F. W. Kohl, F. Williams, Edw. Short, wife and child, Carrie Short, Elma Short, David Roberts and wife, F. E. Sullivan, E. McKilligan and Mrs. Sherman and child.

One person left here for the five-day cruise around the Sound, H. T. Ravenhill.

SCHOONER ENDEAVOR MAY BE TOTAL LOSS

Goes Ashore in Bad Position in Fijis—Aid Being Rushed From Suva

Cablegrams received here this morning from Suva state that the American schooner Endeavor, Captain McAllip, had gone ashore in a bad position on Mambutha Reef, N'gau Island, Fiji group, sixty miles from Suva, and was liable to become a total wreck.

The schooner is full of water, and although steamer assistance is being rushed from Suva it is believed that the vessel will break up. The Endeavor is one of the Billings fleet and is well known on the Sound and the islands. Captain McAllip is senior skipper of the fleet.

The schooner sailed from Vancouver on July 27 with 715,720 feet of lumber on board; her destination being Suva. She had a fast run to the islands of 45 days. She was built at Port Blakely, in 1897 for George E. Billings, of San Francisco, and she is a vessel of 565 tons gross. She is 166 feet 4 inches long and 33 feet 6 inches beam, and has loaded in Vancouver several times.

FIRST GRAIN VESSEL OUT WISCOMBE PARK

To Load at Tacoma Next Week for United Kingdom—Other Windjammer News

It looks as though the British flag-rigged ship Wiscombe Park, Capt. Griffiths, will be the first of the 1912 grain fleet to get away from the Sound for the United Kingdom. Announcement is made that the sailer will tow from Vancouver, where she is discharging a cargo of cement, to Tacoma about the middle of next week. It will only take a couple of weeks to stow the wheat cargo in the Wiscombe's hold and she should get away on her long voyage around Cape Horn early next month.

The first grain ship this year will get away just about the same time as the British barque Celticburn did last year. Although the Celticburn was the first to leave the Sound she was among the last to report at her destination owing to the boisterous passage she had. The Wiscombe Park had a treacherous time on her outward voyage from England, and her officers are hoping that the weather gods will be a little easier on the homeward run.

It is expected that the Chilean barque Curzon, Capt. Basterrechea, will leave Vancouver to-morrow morning in tow of the tug Lorne with her cargo of lumber bound for Valparaiso. She should pass out at Cape Flattery late the afternoon. The Curzon has close to 2,000,000 feet of lumber aboard, which was taken on at Hastings-Mills. In a couple of weeks the Italian ship Maria Teresa will have put off her cargo of tar at Vancouver and be ready to tow to Victoria to load lumber at the Canadian-Puget Sound Mills for Sydney, Australia. It is understood that the Maria will repair the damage she sustained during her run around from Boston upon her arrival here. She required a new main topmast and also fore and mizen topmast yards.

PASSENGER AGENTS COMING TO-MORROW

ALICE BRINGING MANY EMINENT MEN TO TOWN

Arrive Here Shortly After Noon—Three Hours to Be Spent in Victoria

Including some of the most influential railroad men on the continent, the American Association of Passenger Agents will visit Victoria to-morrow. According to an announcement made by the C. P. R. officials this morning the members, accompanied by their wives, will arrive here aboard the steamer Princess Alice, Capt. Locke, shortly after noon. They will spend three hours seeing the city and will then embark on the Alice and continue to Vancouver.

The association is convening at Seattle. The agents commenced their deliberations yesterday morning and it is hoped that the convention will be brought to a close to-night. Early to-morrow morning the members will join the Alice, which is leaving here late to-night, and at top speed the steamer will be driven across here. The C. P. R. is arranging to have a large string of automobiles at the docks and for a couple of hours the passengers' agents and their wives will be shown the many points of interest in Victoria.

The passenger agents of all the American railroads will cross the Sound and Straits to take a look at Victoria. To the majority of these men it will be the first peep they have had of the Beautiful City of the West, and if this town creates a favorable impression with the magnates much good will result as the visitors have their fingers on the advertising schemes prepared and Victoria may figure in them. The weather at present looks as though it will hold good until the passenger agents have seen the city.

Arrangements have been made to have the Alice stop at Vancouver for two hours, but the agents will not have a good opportunity to see the thriving city as they will not be there much before dark. The Alice will run from the Terminal City down to Tacoma, which will be her first visit to that town.

CAUGHT IN SEVERE ELECTRICAL STORM

German Barque H. Hackfeld, at Portland, Has Thrilling Time—To Load Wheat

Portland, Ore., Sept. 13.—Coming over the same route as she did on her visit to Portland a year ago—from the north via Honolulu—the German barque H. Hackfeld, Captain Grube, is again in the Willamette River, having arrived Wednesday at Linnton, where she has begun discharging ballast. Later she will come up to the harbor to begin loading wheat for the United Kingdom.

When a few days out from the islands, Captain Grube says that he ran into a severe electrical storm, which continued for more than a day. Heavy rains fell. At the conclusion of the storm, fresh easterly trade winds sprang up, which lasted until the barque had arrived at 42 degrees north latitude. A few days of calm ensued and then strong northwest winds were experienced, whose general trend did not vary perceptibly until the vessel was within 60 miles of the Columbia river. The barque was 16 days completing the passage to the river, the same time it took her on the occasion of her last visit.

The passage from Hamburg to Honolulu occupied 119 days, and for the most part it was uneventful. On the Atlantic side in 20 degrees north latitude, she sighted the German barque Carl, which was bound from Hamburg for Calao. Signals were exchanged with her and she was apparently making fair progress. The Carl sailed from the German port March 15, and so far as has yet been learned locally, she has not yet put in an appearance at Calao.

In Snowstorm.

In rounding Cape Horn the H. Hackfeld got as far south as 60 1-2 degrees, considerably further down than the majority of the windjammers wander while en route from Europe. When she was in that latitude she was in a blinding snowstorm, which raged with unabated fury until the barque reached the Pacific. It was the worst spell of weather she had to contend with throughout the voyage.

While en route to the islands the

H. Hackfeld was chartered by M. H. Houser to load wheat at Portland. She will be among the first of the season's fleet to clear for Queenstown or Falmouth for orders. She will take out about 180,000 bushels of the cereal.

EMRESS OF INDIA DOCKING FROM EAST

Arriving in Port To-morrow Morning—Yokohama Maru Has Case of Cholera

Shipping men here figure that the big white liner Empress of India, Capt. Beetham, will arrive in port from the Far East before noon to-morrow. The wireless messages received from the liner last night seem to indicate that she will not be in before to-morrow afternoon, but it is expected that the Royal Mail steamship will be driven a little harder, and be here before noon in order that she may dock at Vancouver before dark. The Empress is bringing a large list of passengers, both in the saloon and steerage.

Asiatic cholera aboard the N. Y. K. liner Yokohama Maru, Capt. Nodda, has caused her to be held in the Orient, and the vessel will be a week late in reaching this port, not docking until next Wednesday. When the liner arrived at Moji on August 25, the port physician discovered suspicious symptoms in a Japanese passenger in the first cabin. Diagnosis proved that the man was afflicted with cholera. The Yokohama Maru was sent to quarantine for thorough disinfection, and held at Moji until August 26, disarranging her sailing schedule.

It is stated that the Canadian-Australian liner Lonsdale, Capt. Bate, will leave here early next week for Salina Cruz, with a large general cargo. She will have a large shipment of coal aboard for Mazatlan.

HEADLIGHTS

This morning the G. T. P. steamer Prince George, Capt. McKenzie, left Prince Rupert for Victoria. She will dock here on Sunday morning.

The C. P. R. steamer Tees, Capt. Gilliam, will arrive in port to-morrow from Holberg with a good list of passengers and some cargo. She sails for Clayoquot Sunday night.

The German ship Jersbek, under charter to M. H. Houser to load wheat at Portland for the United Kingdom, arrived at Santa Rosalia from Hamburg on August 26.

It is stated by the Norddeutscher Lloyd that the consumption on coal on their steamers during the past financial year amounted to nearly 1 1/2 million tons, representing an outlay of about 1 1/2 millions sterling.

The British steamer Queen Alexandra, which was here 18 months ago, and the Norwegian steamer Corona, have been in collision, both being badly damaged. The former was bound from the North Pacific to the U. K. Cont. with grain and general cargo. She is insured in London for £38,000, and there will be a heavy claim. The Corona is covered abroad.

The steam schooner Graywood arrived in port this morning with a cargo of asphalt for the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company.

"LAST TRIP OF KEEMUN."

Is Coming to Victoria Again—Will Soon Equal Last Trip of Old Aorangi.

"The last trip of the Keemun" will soon equal that of the old Aorangi, of the Canadian Australian line, for the new Blue Funnel schedule to hand shows that, instead of the Keemun being taken off the Victoria run as expected, provision is made for more voyages. The sailing dates of the fleet from Liverpool are given as: Talthybius, September 14; Bellerophon, October 12; Cyclops, November, December 12; Cyclops, November, December 12; Keemun, March 29. The next to arrive will be the Proteus, about September 18, and then will come the Keemun on October 26.

GRAPPLER WANTS OPPONENT HERE

American Wrestler Issues-Defi to Any Men of 115 to 135
Pounds Weight

Nick Lange, a well-known, welter-weight wrestler of the Pacific Northwest, has issued a challenge through this newspaper to any grappler in this city or on Vancouver Island to a match. The weight may range from 115 pounds to 135, and Joe Feidler, manager for the wrestler, can have his man on the ground within twenty-four hours. Lange intends to make a tour of Canada from this city east as far as Ottawa.

Seattle fans do not hesitate in saying that Lange can clean up anything that he may encounter on this side of the line, but that remains to be seen. Lange has the record of having defeated more than 50 grapplers during his wrestling career of five years, and in the great majority of his matches he was forced to give away weight, in some instances as much as 55 pounds, as was the case when he defeated John Zibisco at Port Townsend.

Among the matches won by Lange, which he considers his greatest victories, are the following: Fred Johnson, at Seattle; Walter Arndt, at Portland; Peter Buzon, at Portland; Tom Martin, at Seattle; Richardson, at Tacoma; both Tom Martin and Kid Linee in one night at Seattle; Carl Nelson, at Everett; Frank Johnson, at Seattle, and Charlie Green, at Roseburg, Ore. Nick has plenty of others to whom he "can point with pride," as the political platform road.

Lange is a product of the Seattle Y. M. C. A., where he started five years ago in the 135-pound class under Andy Erickson. Erickson taught him many tricks of the game and developed him into one of the best "under men" ever seen in the Northwest. All the time he was working out with that "foxy" wrestler, Harvel Donaldson, who "wised" him up to about all there is to know in the way of grappling. Lange was a member of the Y. M. C. A. team that went to Everett and came back with six out of seven firsts.

He has cleaned up practically everything in his class on the Pacific Coast.

JOE RIVERS BURNING UP PRIMROSE PATH

Los Angeles, Sept. 12.—The investigation following Joe Rivers' lame showing against Joe Mandot at Vernon on Labor Day has revealed a remarkable state of affairs existing in the little Mexican training camp.

It is common gossip in sporting circles that Rivers is following in the steps of Young Corbett, travelling so fast that his speed has eluded the buds of the primrose path.

In the battle Monday Rivers showed none of the tigerish aggressiveness that has featured his former battles. There was no snap to his punches, he did not use his hands cleverly and his marvelous footwork was conspicuous by its absence. The Rivers presented upon this occasion was an utter stranger to the Pacific coast public.

Up to last Wednesday Rivers' physical condition was perfect. He was beating up his sparring partners with a savage delight and on his camp form alone he was made a heavy favorite in the betting.

From Wednesday night on, according to positive information, Rivers violated every training camp rule when the thump of the punching bag gave way to the chug of his automobile and the fluttering of feminine veils. On the Sunday morning preceding the day of the battle Rivers is reported to have been putting the finishing touches to a joy ride at 6 o'clock. An east side druggist is willing to make affidavit

BAYLEY'S NEXT GAME.

Forgetting all his lightweight aspirations and battles for the present at least, Joe Bayley, lightweight champion of Canada, and several friends leave tomorrow on a hunting trip up the line to Welch's crossing, where they expect to find the hunting good when the season opens on Monday. Joe will be absent from the city for about a week. In the meantime his manager, Morris Condon, will be looking after his affairs, but from present indications, it looks as though Joe will not fight again until Thanksgiving Day.

that he fed the Mexican a dose of bromo seltzer last Sunday evening. Joe Mandot is modest in victory. The French lad attended a matinee this afternoon, leaving it to his manager, Harry Coleman, to collect his pay cheque, arrange for theatrical dates, answer telegrams of congratulation and attend to other business.

Although Rivers is clamoring for a return date and Mandot is inclined to grant it, the New Orleans lad wants Wolgast as his next opponent.

Coleman had a long talk with Promoter McCarey to-day and the latter has promised to get Wolgast in the ring with Mandot on Thanksgiving Day if the champion is ready to talk business.

As Wolgast has already telegraphed his manager, Tom Jones, to secure the Mandot match, it seems that the negotiations must come to a head inside the next few days. Jones leaves Thursday for the East to talk things over with Wolgast.

Coleman paid his respects to Willie Ritchie in a way that leaves no mistake as to what his intentions are toward the San Francisco boy.

"Ritchie is making a bluff that he is a lightweight," said Coleman. "He must do 133 pounds ringside if he expects anything at our hands."

LACROSSE IS GIRDING GLOBE

Game is Fast Gaining Favor
All Over the Civilized World

Dr. A. S. McCormick, writing from Akron, Ohio, sums up the spread of lacrosse in a letter as follows:

"The majority of people in Montreal and Toronto appear to imagine that lacrosse is confined to those and one or two other cities and Vancouver. Let us investigate."

"In British Columbia is the B. C. L. A., a professional league with two teams, Vancouver and New Westminster. Near year Victoria will enter the fold. The B. C. Amateur Lacrosse Association has teams in these three cities also. Vancouver holds both championships of the world. British Columbia has other leagues as well, of which the chief is the Southern B. C. Nelson, Fernie, Rossland possesses five teams in this league."

"Farther east is the Alberta Lacrosse League with many teams, among them Calgary, Lethbridge, Edmonton, and the Saskatchewan league the chief rivals are Regina and Saskatoon."

"The Manitoba league includes not only the teams in Winnipeg, Brandon, Souris and other cities, but those of Northern Ontario, Port Arthur, Port William, Kenora, etc."

Ontario Leagues.

"In Ontario we find the Canadian Lacrosse Association, one of the world's largest leagues in any sport. The Ontario Lacrosse Association numbers over thirty clubs. Farther east, the Eastern Lacrosse Association wound up a season in 1911 with the deciding match between Prescott and Almonte in Ottawa. The former team won an exciting struggle before 5,000 people. Cardinal has been famous for its team. In the neighborhood of Cornwall the league includes several teams in that city and others in neighboring towns. This league is a fine recruiting ground for professional teams."

"The Dominion L. U. and National L. U. in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Cornwall are well known. They form with the B. C. L. A. the only professional lacrosse leagues in the world."

"In Montreal, Quebec, Sherbrooke, etc., the Interprovincial is a fine intermediate league, as are the Eastern Ontario and International."

"We have mentioned only the principal leagues. There are hundreds of junior, juvenile, school clubs throughout Canada, some in leagues, some independent."

Lacrosse Abroad.

"Lacrosse does not end here. The first foreign country to adopt it was the U. S. A. In New York, Ohio, Illinois, Oregon, Washington, California, Wisconsin, Minnesota and other states are fine clubs and leagues. Of these the last to form was the Southern California, in which Los Angeles captured the first championship in 1911. Eight of the leading U. S. universities have a league whose teams receive an annual defeat from the team of the University of Toronto. The history of the Illinois league is of interest. At first the games of the three Chicago teams were attended by one or two hundred spectators. The number gradually grew to 500, then 1,000. Comiskey, the owner of the Chicago baseball club, treated these clubs splendidly, giving them the free use of the grounds for practice. Now every lacrosse match is attended by over 5,000 spectators and the number grows."

Great Britain.

"In the '70's the Montreal and Coughnawaga clubs introduced lacrosse to the people of Great Britain. Now that country has scores of clubs, not only of men but of women also."

"The fourth country to adopt lacrosse was Australia, where there is a host of clubs, especially in Victoria and New South Wales. A team from the Canadian L. A. paid a long visit to that land a few years ago."

"Fifth is the New Zealand, which is equally enthusiastic. In 1909 Joe Lally shipped one order alone for 1,900 sticks.

"Sixth is South Africa, where in Capetown, Johannesburg, Kimberley, Grahamstown and other cities are many fine clubs."

"Previously to the present unsettled condition of Mexico, the land of the Aztecs was well acquainted with Canada's game."

"In Chicago some Japanese students and attendants at the baseball grounds took great interest in lacrosse. The players permitted them to use their sticks and on their return to Japan they have introduced the game to the land of the Mikados."

Natives Take Hold.

"Lacrosse is the one international game. The Britisher has scattered cricket and Association football wherever he has settled; through the globe; but only the Britisher plays these games. Baseball is confined almost entirely to American and Canadian, and an occasional freak team of Chinese or Japanese. On the other hand lacrosse is played not by Canadians resident in foreign lands but the teams are composed of natives in U. S. A., Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Japan, etc., though we find an occasional Canadian among them."

"Lacrosse is far from ready for the antiquarian museum, nor will it be placed there in this or the next generation."

The Lord Desborough cup, the Benwell cup and various other awards of the other clubs of the Big Four, the team is to leave early next week, if the trip is made.

An all-star lacrosse team picked from coast stars has been selected as follows: Goal, Clark (Westminster); point, Howard (Westminster); cover point, Cameron (Vancouver); defence field, Pickering (Vancouver); lon (Vancouver); Godfrey (Vancouver); centre, W. Turnbull (Westminster); home field, Matheson (Vancouver); C. Spring (Westminster); Carter (Vancouver); L. Turnbull (Westminster); Lalonde (Vancouver); Spare defence, H. Gifford (Westminster); spare home, G. Spring (Westminster.)

The Vancouver lacrosse team will journey to New Westminster on Saturday for the last scheduled match of the season. Jim Kavanagh, the official referee, will probably hustle off home after this match.

You can hardly blame Joe Lally for expressing confidence in the ability of Cornwall to lift the cup, but it will be hard to find anyone outside of Cornwall who feels the same way over the Factory Town's chances.

The first game of the Mann Cup series takes place to-morrow.

The Seattle school board has decided that during the coming football season all games shall be played in public parks, and that there shall be no charge for admission. The board will pay all the expenses for the teams. This action practically abolishes the high school athletic associations which, if elected, will have no authority, because the board's athletic commissioner will have full control.

TOMMY BURNS NOW TOO BUSY

Former Champion Will Not Re-enter Ring to Fight Jim Flynn

Los Angeles, Sept. 12.—The proposed fight between Jim Flynn and former heavyweight champion Tommy Burns was declared off yesterday. Manager McCarey, of the Vernon Club, received word from Burns that business interests at Calgary would not permit of his actively returning to the ring.

Burns' message, it was thought here, also disposed of the rumors that Burns was to return to the prize ring in an attempt to regain the laurels wrested from him by Jack Johnson.

JENNINGS' SUSPENDED.

Detroit, Sept. 12.—Manager Hugh Jennings and Oscar Vitt, of the Detroit American League baseball team, yesterday received suspension notices from President Johnson as the result of their conduct during Wednesday's game with Philadelphia. "Umpire Connelly ordered Jennings off the field when the manager protested a decision, and later in the game Umpire Hart treated Vitt, who had been coaching, in the same manner. The length of the suspensions have not been learned."

CHANGE MINTO CUP DATES.

The proposed change in dates for the coming Minto cup games was made official yesterday when Mr. Joe Lally, on behalf of the Cornwall Lacrosse Club, and Ald. Wells Gray, on behalf of the Salmonbellies, both agreed to accept the terms of the R. A. and I. Society and the Minto Cup games will be played at the provincial fair. The first match will be played on Tuesday, October 1, and the second on Saturday, October 5. The teams will receive the handsome sum of $5,000 for their services.

CHINESE FINANCE IN COUNTY COURT

LOAN SOCIETY BIDS FOR USE OF MONEY

Treasurer Departs and $200 Which Members Contributed Cannot Be Discovered

An example of Chinese finance was given Judge Lampan in the county court this morning when several Chinese appeared with their lawyers to have his honor wrestle with the affairs of a Chinese mutual benefit and loan society, which appears to be very intricate and considerably involved, so much so that neither of the lawyers appearing is satisfied that the other fully understands the merits of the transaction over which the case has arisen, and both of whom took considerable time in enlightening the mind of his honor with the details. The case is styled Luen On Chong against Lang Fook.

Some time back fourteen Chinese formed a mutual loan society, by the rules of which they were each to contribute $40 per month and would then meet around a table and bid for the use of the money. The Chinese who bid up the interest to the highest point received the total amount in the treasury, less his contribution of $40, and less the interest for the term for which the money was borrowed. He then received the money, undertaking at the expiration of the time to pay back to each of the members the individual contributions.

The defendant was the ninth man of the society to make a draw and he bid $4.50 per cent, but when he came to apply for the cash it was found that five of the members had not paid their contributions. He undertook to collect the money from the members and gave the treasurer a promissory note receiving $295.50, the amount in hand, less the interest, and $4 expended for tea at the bidding, which by a rule of the society was always a charge on the borrower.

The sudden departure of the treasurer and the fact that the $295 is missing involved the transaction so much that the parties have come to the court to have it unravelled. The defendant claims that he did not collect the $200, but that it was paid to the missing treasurer, and that, therefore, the note he gave represents security for the greater part of the $295. He was, by the rules of the society entitled to the $295 without security, as he had paid that amount into the society in the months he had been contributing. The plaintiffs claim that the promissory note on which they are suing is the amount the defendant collected, and they say they now want it back. Judge Lampan is to decide whether the note represents part of the $295 paid in cash or whether it covers the $200 supposed to have been collected.

Mr. Elliott, for the plaintiff, said the defendant paid into other pools and those who got the money became liable to him for his contributions. As they had not paid him back he said he was not entitled to pay back their shares in his loan until they paid him. Mr. Higgins is appearing for the defendant.

VOSS READY TO START AGAIN.

Yawl Sea Queen Will Set Out Again on Trip Around World—Ship Weak.

Yokohama, Sept. 12.—S. A. Vincent, one of the Yokohama Rovers on board the good yawl Sea Queen, en route round the world, but blown back to Northern Japan after her start, was in Yokohama a few days ago, when he expressed himself as being quite confident of the next venture. They had had some unexpected contretemps, but even these had an enjoyment of their own, and, on the whole, the party had nothing to complain of.

The boat had proved weak in certain directions, but was in the hands of a Japanese repairer, under the direction of Captain Voss, and would shortly be made right and tight. Thanks to the liberal provisioning, they had lived "high," and only regretted the necessity of jettisoning their stove. Still they had three alcohol stoves, and expected to make out until they reached Australia. Mr. Vincent regretted the shark which destroyed their sea-anchor.

The party is not a bit discouraged with its experiences, however, and expects to report good progress from the next port in communication.

HARD CRUISE IN ARCTIC.

Power Schooner Polar Bear Back in Seattle—Forced South By Ice Floss.

Seattle, Sept. 12.—Thawed and sent floating southward from the Polar seas by unusual summer heat, icebergs in battalions last summer assailed the staunch little power schooner Polar Bear forcing her master, Captain Louis Lane, to beat a retreat from the Arctic. Captain Lane, who left Seattle with the Polar Bear last spring on a hunting and trading expedition to the Far North, had almost reached Wrangel Island off the Siberian coast, when the ice drove him back. He brought his little vessel into Seattle yesterday.

On board the Polar Bear as a result of the four months' voyage were more than 100 walrus hides and 200 walrus tusks. They are being shipped to New York and London. The Polar Bear left Seattle on May 2, bound for Petropoulovski, Siberia. Her actual journey, however, took her first to Ketchikan and thence to Dutch Harbor. Leaving there she ran along the Siberian coast, gradually working her way into the Arctic.

Captain Lane spent considerable time on the Siberian coast, where he has traded before on numerous occasions. His attempt to reach Wrangel Island was in a way successful as he got within halting distance of the shore, but he deemed it wise not to attempt a landing as formidable blocks of ice threatened the safety of his vessel.

The Polar Bear called in at Nome on the way south. She made the trip from Nome to Ketchikan in ten days.

FICTITIOUS SIGNATURES.

To the Editor:—The Colonist printed a letter from me a few weeks ago upon the subject of Home Rule, and the present attitude of Ulster. In the next issue of that paper a flippant reply, introducing my name, was printed—faultlessly worded—but displaying ignorance of the subject.

There is only one person in Victoria of the same name, and I have ascertained he did not write the letter, and that he is incapable of doing so. The Colonist then abruptly and without notice closed the correspondence without affording me an opportunity of defending myself against an ignorant attack.

Under all the circumstances and in view of an unwarrantable charge brought editorially by your contemporary against the Victoria Times, some time since, from "letters from correspondents were concocted in the office of that paper," I have formed my own opinion, as to the place from whence the two letters emanated (to which I referred) over fictitious signatures.
T. S. K.

HARBOR POLLUTION.

To the Editor:—In the Colonist of September 13, there appears a small article entitled "Clean the Harbor." This suggestion seems a most timely one, and one to which action should be immediately taken by some responsible body.

I would suggest that a select committee of citizens be formed with power to look into this matter fully, and take evidence if necessary as to what amount of sewage, at the present moment finds its outlet into the waters of Victoria harbor and its branches. It has been pointed out that every change of tide carries the poisonous and polluting sewage into the far-reaching limits of the Victoria Arm and Portage Inlet. This being the state of affairs, it can readily be seen that it is only a matter of time when the whole of Victoria Arm will become in the same state as our never to be forgotten James Bay flat before it was reclaimed. Those who never knew the James Bay flats, can readily estimate what it was by taking a trip to Rock Bay, which is a misnomer, and should really have been called "Stench Bay." The sewage problem has confronted many seaports of the world from time to time, as an instance, the sewage and garbage from the vessels alone, from the port of Malta became so alarming that the British government was compelled to investigate the matter, and it was found by medical experts that what is known as Mediterranean or Malta fever was caused by the pollution of the waters of the said harbor.

It has been suggested for some time past that a salt water bathing house be established in or near the city of Victoria. Now I would ask any fair-minded citizen what he would think of the matter if that swimming bath were to pump the water for said bath directly from the harbor of Victoria. Yet, all the waters of Victoria harbor are the same waters in which many of our citizens bathe at Victoria Arm. This state of facts reveals to every one the absolute necessity of taking this most important matter into consideration at once.

It has been suggested that no place in America could be made so near to Henley as could be Victoria Arm, but in order to do this the suggestion of the Hon. Dr. M. Eberts for a conservancy commission coupled with the cleansing of the waters of said arm, and the carrying out of the suggestion of Mr. W. Hatheway of the "Flying Legion," namely, the strewing of house-boats among the arm, even though they have to be the reconverged hulks of the sailing fleet, as suggested by Mr. Hatheway—must all be completed. Those who are familiar with the River Thames must know that the waters of same are in a most awful state of pollution as far up as tidal waters, but from Richmond up past Hampton court and Windsor the waters are as clear as a country stream. In order to accomplish these most essential needs, I can do no better than quote the words of advice from Mr. Hatheway as follows: "You have a great future in almost any direction, which, if the public spirit of your citizens will rise and grasp, and if they get in the front rank of prosperity that is promised the Pacific coast during the next few years there is no destiny that you need hesitate to set as your goal."

Therefore, Mr. Editor, I appeal to the citizens of Victoria, through the co-operation of the newspapers, to get busy at once, and earnestly hope that others may be heard from on the text of this letter.

OTTAWA SCHOOL TROUBLE.

Toronto, Sept. 13.—Sir James Whitney, premier of Ontario, was not ready yesterday to be interviewed in regard to the strike declared by the Ottawa separate school boards. The request for an interview was declined on the ground of press of work.

The protest of the Ottawa men against the new English-French school regulations comes to the education department at an inconvenient time, as the minister of education is away in northern Ontario studying the educational needs of that district.

FRIENDLY SUIT.

Receivers Appointed for U. S. Motor Company, a $42,500,000 Corporation.

New York, Sept. 13.—Receivers were appointed yesterday for the United States Motor Company, a $42,500,000 corporation organized in 1908 to control automobile and gas engine companies. Its directors number some of the best known capitalists in the country.

The receivers, W. E. Strong and Robert Walker, were appointed by Judge Hough in an insolvency suit brought by creditors. Five of the holding firms constitute the companies involved.

Bankers identified with the company said that the proceedings are friendly and brought to clear up the company's affairs. The securities of the United States Motor Company have been declining on the curb market for some time. The aggregate liabilities of the defendant companies, the petition states, amount to approximately $12,500,000.

The precise weight of an English ounce was fixed by Henry III., who decreed that it should weigh 60 grains of dry wheat.

Since 1874 the ratable value of property in England and Wales has risen by nearly 100 million pounds.

PROFESSOR DALE HAS NOT BEEN APPOINTED

Chancellor Carter - Cotton Denies That President for University is Appointed

Rumor has again appointed a president of the B. C. University, the favored one this time being Professor James A. Dale, of McGill University, Montreal, but F. Carter-Cotton, chancellor of the institution, has squelched the report so effectively that it will be necessary for the speculators to try some other direction.

"I know nothing at all about such an appointment," said Mr. Cotton, "and I think it has been made I would know. In the first place, the board of governors has not yet been appointed, so naturally it would be impossible for Professor Dale to have been appointed by them. The report is not true and, so far as I know, the appointment is not even contemplated."

Professor Dale is widely known in Canada and is recognized as one of the leading educators of the country. He is also known as a lecturer and writer, and his articles on education are considered authorities.

DU MAURIER AND TADEMA.

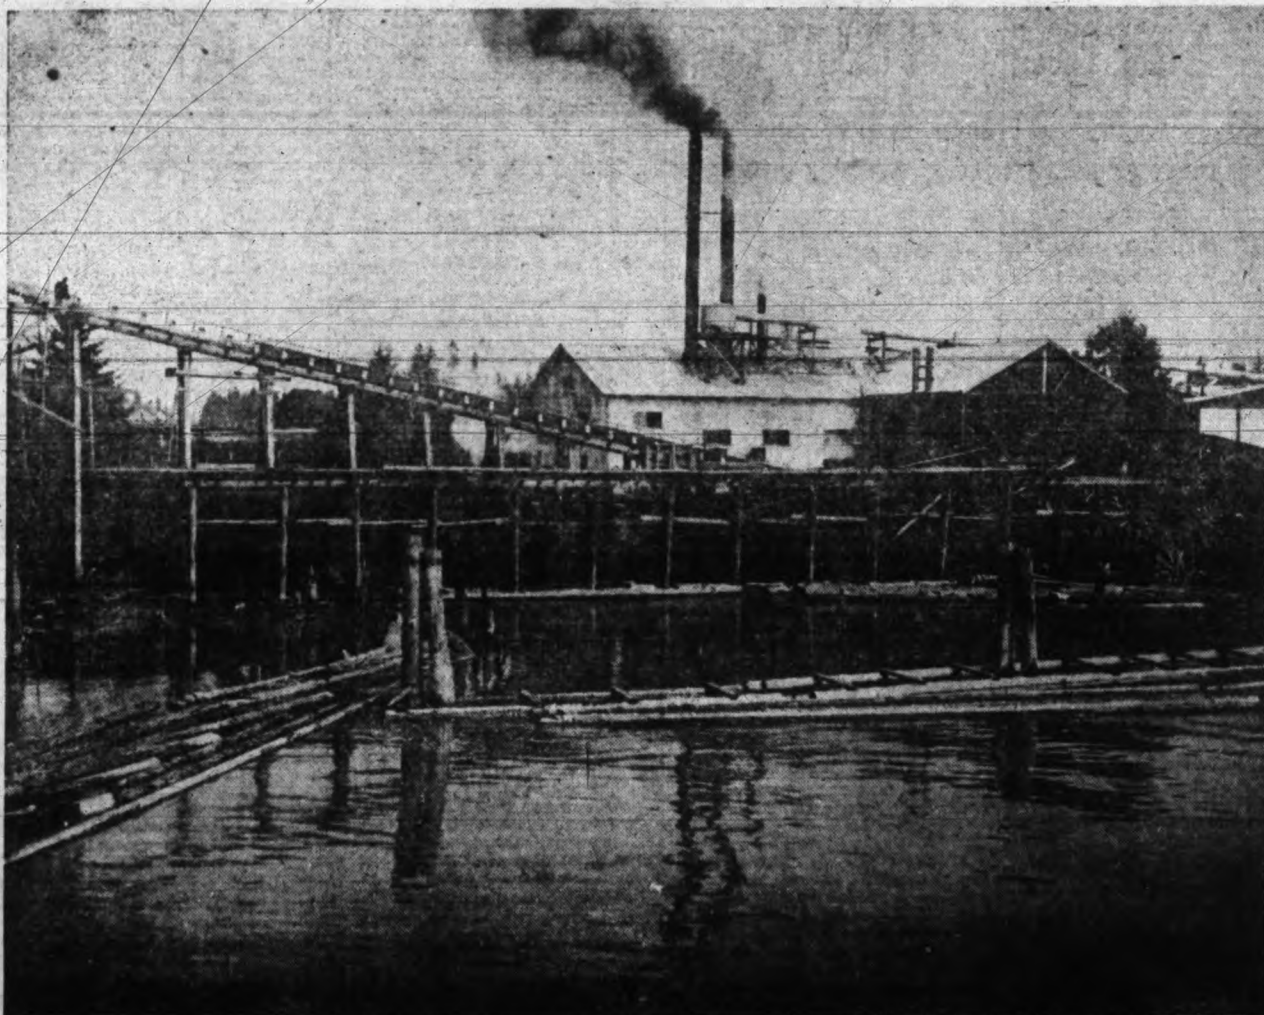

The resemblance between Du Maurier, the renowned French artist, and Alma Tadema, the celebrated Holland-English painter, was very striking, and very often was the cause of mistakes and much merriment. One day, in an art gallery, Du Maurier had an animated conversation with a lady, an enthusiastic admirer of art. All at once the lady said: "I must tell you one thing, Mr. Alma Tadema, I can't understand how it is possible that people so often assert you resemble Du Maurier, or that they even take you for him. Such a delusion can only be possible with a person of great superficiality and—"

"Excuse me, madam, for interrupting you to correct a little mistake," said the other. "I am Du Maurier."

LOTS SELLING FAST

Plans Being Prepared for Houses---Keen Demand for Lots on Sinclair Road

That "Highlands" is an assured success and that some of the most delightful homes in the entire Cadboro Bay district will be built there, are two interesting facts established by the sales of the last few days. Numbers of people have bought lots already, and while a majority of them are new residents of Victoria who have purchased with the object of building homes, not a few Victorians of long standing have taken a lot or two as an investment. Plans are now in preparation for several purchasers who are calling for expensive and beautiful houses. The demand for lots on Sinclair road, the northeasterly boundary of the property, has been especially brisk. These lots command what is probably one of the most superb views in Canada, landscape, sea and mountain.

COLLECTOR STEALS THE FIRM'S MONEY

NO USE CRYING OVER
SPILT MILK, HE SAYS

Lack of Proper Facilities at Jail Causes Complaint From Provincial Authorities

Having stolen about $50 from the Victoria Collection & Investment Company while employed by the company as collector, Arthur Chapman, a young Englishman, went philosophically to jail this morning for six months with the remark that it was no use crying over spilt milk. He also said the thing was done and could not be undone, so what was the use of kicking? The only thing to do was to pay the piper and get it over.

He was charged with having collected $12.50 from George Watson, of James Bay, the account being in the Frank Hall estate, and having used the money for his own purposes. His instructions had been to turn it in to the company, but he had not done so. For the few weeks he had been working he had been drawing ten per cent. commission on his collections and there was in all a shortage in his accounts amounting to $50.

When Magistrate Jay asked him what he had to say, Chapman replied, "nothing." The magistrate remarked that accused did not seem concerned about the matter when the young man answered there was no use in being distressed about it, or in crying over spilt milk.

"How did you spend the money?" asked Mr. Jay.

"Oh, in the usual way, eating and sleeping," replied Chapman.

"And drinking too, I suppose?" asked Mr. Jay.

"Oh, just a drink or two," replied Chapman.

"Six months," concluded the magistrate.

James D. Grierson's condition was so filthy last night when he was turned into the city police cells by Constable Brogan that the other men in the jail who were sobering up from their libations, declined to allow him to stay in the same place with them, and turned him loose into the jail yard. He went to jail to-day for a month and will be walked to the provincial jail, so that he will not contaminate the auto patrol. Constable Brogan received a call from St. Ann's convent, where Grierson, who is an old man, had been sleeping about the garden for some days and nights past. On four previous occasions he has served terms for vagrancy and several drunk convictions are against him. Major Mytton, in command at the provincial jail, has complained on several occasions of the city police sending fifty prisoners to him to be cleaned. The city police, however, have no other recourse than to send all their prisoners to the Hillside avenue jail because of the absolute lack of facilities in the city prison. When the construction of a new jail was mooted in the market block the plans contained provision for a steam room with a bath and a disinfecting chamber. It was proposed that filthy vagrants should enter the bath from the charge room and be stripped and put into the hot bath, while their clothes would be pitch-forked into a disinfecting room. The failure in the financial arrangements for the new jail, however, has caused the police to continue sending all prisoners to Hillside avenue.

An argument about the soldierly merits of the late General Buller and Lord Roberts in Steele's saloon, was held by S. A. Hawton to have been the cause of a window being broken, but the bartender and one Barney Martin claimed that accused was drunk and boisterous and smashed the window with his hand. He paid $5 for the joy of the disturbance and another $5 for the window.

HON. T. W. PATERSON WILL PRESENT SHIELD

In Senior Singing Competition
at South Park School on Tuesday

His honor the Lieut.-Governor has fixed Tuesday afternoon for the presentation by him of his shield for singing, which again will remain in the custody of South Park school, where the ceremony will take place.

The adjudicators, G. Jennings Burnett, Jesse A. Longfield, and J. G. Brown, who made their examination of the schools on June 18 and 19 last, awarded the senior shield to South Park with 297 marks out of 500; Bank street being second with 258, and Kingston street third with 274 marks. The Girls' Central school won the junior shield with 229 marks, Rock Bay having 237, and the Boy's Central 219 marks.

In reporting on the work of the schools the adjudicators pay a tribute to the supervisor of singing, Mr. Pollard, in the following terms: "The purity of tone, accurate pitch, clean pronunciation, and the excellent control and attention rarely enjoyed from such young singers, was a great and pleasing surprise, and shows that in all departments Mr. Pollard is eminently qualified to perform any duty that may fall to him in connection with the singing in the public schools."

A DELIGHTFUL VISIT WRITES DR. WHEELER

Says Victoria Occupies Chosen
Spot of God's World—Predicts Bright Future

Randolph Stuart, hon. secretary of the citizens' committee, has received the following letter from President Benjamin Ide Wheeler: "My Dear Stuart—I am back home sound and well, and there arises within me a perpetual fountain of thankfulness for the kindness shown me by my good neighbors of Victoria. It was a delightful visit, and we shall always remember the charm of your hospitality. It was a great pleasure to me to see Victoria and gain some measure of its growth and prospects for the future. It evidently occupies a chosen spot on the crust of God's world, and is destined to be a home of health and charm. Land, water, sky and people have combined to make it what it is. With cordial greetings to yourself and all the good Victorians who joined to make our visit a delight, I am Faithfully yours, (Signed) BENJ. IDE WHEELER."

IMPORTANT VISITORS. Automobiles Wanted to Accommodate Passenger Agents To-Morrow.

The arrival of the American Passenger Agents in this city to-morrow is fraught with great importance to Victoria, and it behoves the city to do everything in its power to give the men the heartiest possible welcome. These men have a great deal to do with the bringing of tourists to the West from all parts of the world, and many of them hold very responsible positions in the various railroads in the States.

The visitors will arrive about noon and will be met at the wharf by Mayor Beckwith and the aldermen. They will then be taken in automobiles for excursions round the city and environs. Owners of cars are asked to be on hand with them at the Causeway and Belleville street at 12.30 o'clock. Sixty automobiles are required and it is hoped that there will be no difficulty in providing sufficient accommodation.

After the drive the agents will assemble in front of the Empress hotel, where a few short speeches will be given, and the delegation will proceed on its way again to Vancouver at 3 o'clock.

Of the total revenue of France, over 75 per cent. is derived from indirect taxes.

It is said that there were only four foreigners in the British army last year.

SEWER INQUIRY HAS CENTRE OF STAGE

INVESTIGATION
CONTINUES TO-NIGHT

Some Reflections on Evidence
Before Committee to Date

Civic interest centres to-day on the sewer inquiry, and when the proceedings continue this evening a number of witnesses, it is understood, will be called to testify to the aidmen who compose the committee on subjects which have arisen in the progress of the investigation.

As in all examinations of this character into the expenditure of money over several months, the testimony of one witness leads to another, and so as the history of sewer construction in the city is unfolded new names are imported into the discussion whose evidence ought to be heard in the public interest. If from the mass of testimony there shall be evolved a system which can be put into force in the years to come, the inquiry will achieve its ends. One important phase of the situation which has been evolved from the discussion so far as the committee has yet gone is that the method of divorcing the designing department from the construction branch in the sewer work was a failure. Since City Engineer Rust has taken office the old construction department has vanished, most of the employees being released from the city service, and with the change this aspect of the case has materially altered. There are too many "bosses," according to the employees, and they don't hesitate to tell the committee of inquiry so, while the engineering department says the staff employed is doing well in checking work, collecting cost data, and supplying material to keep the gangs employed without a break.

The report of the committee cannot fail to refer to the old method of rushing into work, and employing a large number of men, without any definite knowledge of the funds available. The late city engineer took a risk with the northeast sewer, and as a result is that the expense proved far more than could be estimated. Opening a number of trenches at different points gave the opportunity to spring in the strata to rise, and fill the excavations. There being no provision made for getting rid of the water in the natural way by gravity, the trenches filled, and the only recourse was to pumps. Suitable ones were not to be had at the time they were wanted, hence the delay, and hardship imposed on men working waist deep in water.

The question of the purchase of pipe is an important one, but peeping the full facts being brought out in examination, any comment would prejudice a fair view of the case. By some person or other vitrified pipe appears to have been ordered to replace cement pipe, and no formal contract entered into, when a proper agreement had been executed for the former class of material. This is as far as the evidence at the present time carries the situation.

The hearing will be resumed this evening at 8 o'clock. This afternoon the committee will personally investigate the charges of bad construction in Victoria West made by George Oliver.

STEFANSEN'S DISCOVERY.

Experts Declare Reports Regarding
Finding of White Tribes Require Further Elucidation.

London, Sept. 13.—The Christiania correspondent of The Morning Post says:

"Telegrams announcing that Professor Stefansen found traces of white Eskimos have aroused much interest and also some criticism. Dr. Skattum, the ethnologist, has been interviewed. He is of the opinion that the reports require further elucidation. Professor Stefansen has not hitherto been regarded here as an authority.

"Norwegian explorers and ethnologists, Dr. Nansen among others, long ago recognized there were Eskimos possessing some characteristics of the North German type in Greenland and Arctic America. It appears to be evident that the Norwegian colonists who emigrated mixed with Eskimo tribes and amalgamated completely with them. The existence of a whole tribe of the northern European type and even using several words of Norwegian origin is held to be quite improbable."

Captain Sverdrup's brother, Dr. Sverdrup, who himself engaged in Arctic exploration and is now a practising physician among Norwegian seamen in the East End of London, discredits the story of the discovery of a colony of 2,000 white Eskimos. In an interview, he declared that nowhere in Greenland was there a colony of natives numbering 2,000. Other explorers had visited that very region and never mentioned such a colony.

Furthermore, the doctor pointed out that the Hudson's Bay Company's trading stations were actually in touch every year with authentic Eskimos and Copper Mine Indians a little to the south, who would surely have heard of such a strange folk.

BLUE AND GREEN SEA WATER.

The blueness of sea water is in constant ratio to its saltness. In the tropics the tremendous evaporation, induced by the blazing sun causes the water to be much saltier than it is in higher latitudes. For about thirty degrees north and south of the equator the waters are of an exquisite azure. Beyond these latitudes the blue changes to green, and in the Arctic and Antarctic oceans the greens are almost as vivid as the tropical blues.

LOCATION IS NON- ESSENTIAL TO CITY

Victoria's Greatness Depends on Commercial Spirit Says
Flying Legion Delegate

At the request of Frederick J. Koster, president of the Flying Legion, which came here last month from San Francisco, W. L. Hathaway, one of its members has written the secretary of the Victoria citizen's committee, Randolph Stuart, of his impressions gathered while here. Of the future of Victoria, he says: "I am requested by Mr. Frederick J. Koster, chairman of the Flying Legion, to write you my personal impressions regarding Victoria and its future among the cities of the Pacific coast, and I am pleased to say that I have received so many pleasant impressions of Victoria, its environs and its citizens, that it would not be possible to do them justice in one communication.

"As to Victoria's commercial, manufacturing and shipping future, that in my opinion is a problem that will only be solved by the extent to which the commercial spirit possesses her citizens, for in my opinion favorable location has played but a small part in the building of such trade centres. Many cities, in fact, most of the great ones, have been built through the spirit born of surmounting difficult obstacles, while more favorable localities whose residents did not deem it necessary to put up the fight for recognition, slept on in rural contentment.

"Personally, I am charmed with Victoria and all of Vancouver Island that I had the privilege of seeing. You occupy a unique situation, with your beautiful city of English homes, culture and refinement, and surrounding rural prosperity, planted, as it were, on the very edge of an undeveloped wilderness, giving home advantages and opportunities combined in a way unknown by me for any other locality. You have a great future in almost any direction which the public spirit of your citizens will rise and grasp, and if they get in the front rank of the tide of prosperity that is promised the Pacific coast during the next few years, there is no destiny that you need hesitate to set as your goal.

"There is, however, one opportunity most easily grasped at this time, which I hope your citizens will not overlook, and that is, to become one of the centres for entertaining the flood of tourists that the next few years must bring, and you cannot expect any considerable number of these people unless you become a part of the organized effort to bring and hold them here, and this opportunity is offered you in our suggestion of the establishment of an annual event of one week in the form of a Victoria regatta, combined with other water sports, for which your inner harbor and all local surroundings are an ideally arranged

To me this suggestion appears as Victoria's great opportunity, as it will bring to you the hundreds of thousands who come to see, and it will be in your own hands what per cent. of them you will hold and mold into your commercial and social activities."

PASSING SHOW

The Empress Theatre.

Billy Green, Henry McHenry and Homer Deane, billed on the programme at the Empress Theatre as "The Ragtime Trio" are certainly proving an attraction if the applause which greets their work at every performance is any criterion. The three singers have to respond to many encores.

Misses Grace Church and Ida Russell are a couple of charming young comedienne who are offering a successful turn entitled "From Society to the Bowery." There are costume changes in plenty, chiefly by Miss Russell and her partner shows herself to be a dancer of no small ability. "The Dance of All Nations" is the feature of her part of the act.

A musical act of the highest class is that presented by Jura, Reed and St. John, a trio of capable musicians. It is billed under the title of "Colonial Pastimes" and the colonial setting and costuming is well carried out. The trio play a good repertoire with cornets, French horns, violin, piano, and other instruments, completing their programme with the rendition of the sextette from Lucia.

The playlet of this week's bill is a funny farce entitled "The Twin Flats." Chas. Ward, Misses Katherine Klare and Sherwood form the presenting company and they win many a laugh. William Chapman and Edward Berube present an athletic feature which rounds off a good show. The two young men, who show remarkable physical development, offer some excellent gymnastic and hand to hand balancing work, and introduce some stirring feats.

The British consular report from Odessa says the Russian is willing to pay a high price for his tea, and so the best part of the crop is reserved for the Russian market; 6s. per pound is quite a usual price to pay. Of this amount 1s. 10d. is duty. Lately the Russian taste has been strongly in favor of Indian or Ceylon tea.

Royal Institute Meeting.—The chairman of the school board, George Jay, and Superintendent of City Schools Paul went over to Vancouver to-day to attend the meeting of the B. C. branch Royal Institute for the Advancement of Learning.

Discussing Songhees Plans.—H. E. Beasley, superintendent of the E. & N. railway, has just returned from Vancouver where he has spent the greater portion of the week. While in the Terminal City, Mr. Beasley was chiefly engaged in discussing the plans of the Songhees Reserve with the engineers.

Preparing for Passenger Agents.—Mayor Beckwith said this morning that some 60 automobiles had been found necessary for the visiting passenger agents here to-morrow from Seattle, and it had been some trouble to find cars for the monster party, which was not far short of 300 all told.

Dean Doull Returns.—Rev. A. J. Do 'l, Dean of Columbia, Mrs. Doull and family will arrive on the afternoon boat to-morrow, and will be met by the churchwardens and representatives of the Cathedral staff. They have had an interesting visit to the Old Country. The dean will be greeted at a service of welcome at Christ Church cathedral at 5.15 p. m.

Pamphlets at Board Office.—The secretary of the Victoria Board of Trade has been favored with a large supply of pamphlets by the London Chamber of Commerce, containing an address by Dr. F. B. Vrooman at one of their meetings recently on "Imperial Preference for British Investments." Any members of the board of trade or the general public who desire to possess a copy of this notable speech can do so by applying at the office of the Board of Trade on Bastion street.

Knox Church Progress.—The Young People of Knox church closed their fiscal year with an interesting meeting on Tuesday evening. Reports show a new piano to their credit, a good financial standing, and an increased membership. A feature of the evening was an address and presentation to one of their members, R. Jones, who is going to Springfield to train in Y. M. C. A. work. New officers were elected and installed who intend opening this season's work with a rally-meeting on Monday, September 23. Young people attending the meetings of this society are sure of enjoyable evenings and a healthful Christian influence.

Postponed Meeting.—The meeting of executive of the Vancouver Island Development League which was to have taken place yesterday in the board of trade rooms was postponed owing to the inability of certain members of the executive to be present, J. J. Shallock and H. G. Wilson being in attendance at the arbitration case at the city hall.

Refers to the Island.—In the next issue of "Timberman," a Portland periodical published in the interests of forestry, there will be a complete account of the recent Canadian Forestry Convention, together with articles on Vancouver Island, the scenery and the timber thereon. It will be remembered that a Portland representative was present at the convention held here and it is no doubt to him that the section of the paper dealing with Vancouver Island is due.

Not Yet Chosen.—The directors of the Y. M. C. A. of this city held a meeting yesterday afternoon, when C. S. Sayre, travelling secretary of the association, was in attendance. No definite conclusion was reached as to the successor of E. M. Thomason as general secretary, but the question was discussed at some length. It was felt that the new secretary should have some voice in the choice of the members of his staff in the future, so the post of a secretary for social and membership work will remain unfilled until the new man arrives.

Change in Library Staff.—The junior assistant at the Carnegie library, who has done much good work in helping Miss Stewart during the arduous times entailed by the library alterations, is leaving the establishment, owing to the fact that her family is leaving the city to take up their residence in Vancouver. Miss Scott has been associated with the library for five years and the good wishes of all users of the library will be with her in her new sphere of life. Her place will be taken by Miss Eva Wheeler who has had a fairly extensive training in library work at New York.

Vancouver Island Exhibits.—For the Vancouver Island exhibit at the fair, Ernest McGaffey, secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League, has lately been in consultation with W. E. Scott, the deputy minister of agriculture and Mr. Shotbolt, his assistant, and this afternoon they propose visiting the grounds. The exhibit will be composed of specimens of heavy timber, fruits, flowers and vegetables; also of coal and other minerals found on the island. A feature of the exhibit will be the original bird's eye map of Vancouver Island made by Messrs. Kennedy and Company. This map, which is of huge proportions will be of special interest and will be placed in a prominent position at the show and is expected to attract widespread attention.

Bishop Rudolph to Lecture Sunday.—Bishop Rudolph, the eminent Bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church of America, who has spent a good deal of his life among the people of the Philippine Islands and has been a great influence for good in that community, will preach in the Church of Our Lord at both services of Sunday. And at 9 o'clock Sunday evening at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church he will give a lecture, under the auspices of the Men's Bible class of that church. This lecture is to be given so that members of all the churches may have the opportunity of hearing this eminent divine.

The Weather.—Continued fine and warm weather was predicted at the weather office this morning. The barometer keeps very high all down the coast, with pronounced heat on the coast of California. Yesterday San Francisco experienced ninety degrees in the shade, which is an unusual temperature for the city of the Golden Gate. According to telegraphic messages received this morning a slight frost has already been experienced in Northern Alberta and there are indications from the prevailing currents and barometric areas that the frost will spread within the next two or three days all over the prairie districts.

Valuable Courses in Education Begin in October—Specialty in Business Subjects.

With the coming of autumn, the Y. M. C. A. officials are getting ready for the different courses which will be held in the Blanchard street building during the season. The educational secretary, Mr. Raymond, has arranged a scheme of work for the season which embraces practically every branch of educational development. Special attention has been devoted to the capable young educationalist secretary to the business side of the scholastic propaganda.

The classes will in all probability commence on October 14, and the advantages they will afford to the youth or man anxious to raise his condition in life will be considerable. One of the special classes is the teaching of English to foreigners.

Altogether the following subjects will be taught in the present season: Advertising and Salesmanship; Algebra, Architecture and Draughtsmanship, Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, Geometry, English Grammar and Reading, Mechanical Drawing, Penmanship, Plan Reading and Estimating, Show Card Writing, Stenography and Typewriting, Spelling and Trigonometry.

There will also be three special group courses as follows: English Course, Shorthand Course and Business Course. Mr. Raymond has planned also to have a series of practical talks and lectures throughout the winter under the auspices of the educational section of the Association.

SOME PROBLEMS FOR NEW MUNICIPALITY

URGENT QUESTIONS IN ESQUIMALT TO-DAY

Sewerage Disposal is Dom- inant Issue Before the First Council

The newly elected reeve of Esquimalt, with his council colleagues to be selected on Monday will be faced, immediately upon organization details being completed, with the sewerage problem.

The fundamental question before the new body, and the one which has made organization essential is that of the sewerage. All the new body can hope to do in the four months of its existence is to secure a report from the expert whom the council may engage as to the best means of dealing with the sewerage of the municipality, and have a by-law prepared for submission to the electors in January next for the necessary funds to meet the initial expenditure.

The physical condition of the new authority's area will probably require outfalls on the east, south and west, and then comes in the question of currents. No outfall would be permitted in a fine residential district like Esquimalt, where the tides would cause the sewerage to come back, and with the provincial government refusing to allow contamination of Victoria or Esquimalt harbors, the designers of any scheme for the peninsula will be faced with problems of no mean character. On account of the rocky nature of the municipality there is little doubt that the cost of excavation will be heavy, and the council will be accordingly called upon to determine whether they will not adopt a combined system of drainage rather than follow the separate system, which is proving so expensive in Victoria. When a cubic yard in the city, it is not improbable that the same figure may be looked for in the adjacent municipality, although some contractors are taking it out at a considerably less sum than that.

While the provincial government retains control of the two trunk roads through the municipality the cost of road maintenance will be comparatively little, the cross streets probably being dealt with under a local improvement by-law. However, with the amount of construction going on to-day a building by-law, not too rigid, perhaps, in its provisions, will be required, to be enacted as soon as possible, making generous allowances for the conditions prevailing.

Water and fire protection are practically out of the hands of the new authority. The former is already in the control of a company, and the municipal fathers will find themselves doubtless pressed to urge rearrangement of water rates and connection charges. So far as fire protection service is concerned there is already a fire hall, with an active company, at Victoria West, and probably the city would be content to furnish its services to the municipality in the same way as the arrangement reached with Oak Bay for the hall now in course of construction on Duchess avenue, which will be finished at the close of the year. Health regulations are but the corollary of the sewerage proposal, and whatever rules are adopted in this regard, it is essential that the by-law shall give sufficient latitude till the municipality can adopt a comprehensive system of drainage. The scarlet fever epidemic of last winter, which spread to the city, was undoubtedly due to the conditions which prevailed outside the city boundary on the Esquimalt side.

Probably the municipality, when the time comes for public lighting, will adopt the Oak Bay plan of an arrangement with the B. C. E. R. When street railway and lighting poles exist the difficulties of supplying this class of light ought not to be considerable.

TO BE CALLED VICTORIA WEEK

SUMMER CARNIVAL TO PROVIDE ATTRACTIONS

Admirable Suggestions Put Forward at Meeting of Cit- izens' Committee Yesterday

"Victoria Week" is to be celebrated in the first week of August every year, and during that time a great regatta will be held, and historical pageants and other attractions arranged for in order to attract the summer tourist of whatever clime and whatever lands to "the playground of the Pacific."

This was the decision arrived at yesterday at a meeting held under the auspices of the Victoria Citizens' committee, which took place in the board of trade rooms. No details were actually arranged, but the scheme was outlined in the rough and various pertinent comments made by gentlemen present. The prime object of the gathering, which was representative of practically all the leading organizations in the city, was to decide whether the Citizens' committee which did such good work in connection with the reception of the "Flying Legion" should become a permanent institution. It was pointed out that, broadly, the work of the committee would be to arrange for the reception of distinguished visitors, whether individual or corporate, who come to this city, and to take in hand any arrangements in connection with the proposed "Victoria Week."

The suggestion received the hearty commendation of the gathering, and the following resolution was unanimously passed: "That a provisional committee be formed, to be known as the Citizens' committee, for the purpose of receiving and entertaining distinguished visitors, and to take into consideration ways and means to carry out such duties and the suggestion made by Mr. W. L. Hatheway, of the San Francisco Flying Legion, and that the various public bodies represented upon this committee be asked if they wish to endorse the appointment of such committee and make such nominations for the committee as they may see fit. That the present executive be asked to remain in office until replies are received from the public bodies interested."

Various suggestions came forward as to the best way of celebrating Victoria Week. It was pointed out that few places in the world offer such an aquatic week as does Victoria. In reply to a question the chairman, Ald. Cuthbert, also stated that he thought the programme would not be confined to a water carnival alone, but should also include a pageant representing various scenes in the development of Victoria and Vancouver Island, and also a military tournament and other attractions.

The chairman made the gratifying statement to the effect that the Citizens' committee, after paying off every cent of their liabilities in connection with the visit of the distinguished Californians who recently visited this city, had about $400 in hand, and in his opinion there was no doubt that they could, with equal success conduct any campaign for the collection of finances for such a carnival as was proposed for Victoria Week.

A. C. Flumerfelt asked what the plans of the new organization were to be, and in reply the chairman remarked that the organization when formed would decide on the work that they would set out to do. He explained that it was the object of the meeting to seek to ask the various organizations of the city, such as the Board of Trade, the Real Estate Exchange and sporting bodies to co-operate in securing a permanent committee for the purpose of promoting the interests of Victoria by means of publicity.

The chairman then called upon Ernest McGaffey, secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League, to state whether he thought the new institution would interfere with the work of the league he represented. The secretary said that at the present time the league had all the work it could handle. He did not believe the proposed committee would interfere at all with the work of the league. They had never set out to do any reception work, and this was an important branch of publicity which could be well undertaken by the committee such as had been proposed. He pointed out the importance, however, of the financial end of any scheme such as was being promulgated. If it was to be made a success, it would be necessary to have money and plenty of it.

Hon. Mr. Eberts' suggestion. Perhaps the most important suggestion of the whole meeting came from D. M. Eberts, M.P.P., who after supporting the whole idea of the citizens' committee, suggested that the administration of the Victoria Arm where the regatta would take place should be given over to a conservancy commission. The premier, he said, had been approached in the matter and had given his unqualified endorsement of it; he (Mr. Eberts) had also mentioned it to the premier of the Dominion. He showed what could be done by means of a little inexpensive dredging in changing the present low tide mud flats into alluvial terraces which would be a pride and a joy to Victoria in years to come. He painted a picture of beautiful villas sloping down to the water, and of the lights gleaming on the waters at night. He believed that at least three acres could be reclaimed and it was agreed that the suggestion should be one of the first matters taken up by the committee.

The announcement that the first week in August will henceforth be known as "Victoria Week" was wired to the executive of the Flying Legion who will use the announcement in all their advertising and publicity matter, so that through their instrumentality the idea of Victoria's great carnival will be made known to millions of tourists the world over.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

The programme for to-day and Saturday is of unusual interest. "Across the Isthmus of Panama in 1912," shows the canal, making the journey from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic. The Miraflores locks are first viewed. They are situated about eight miles from deep water in the Pacific, and are 542-3 feet above the level of that ocean. Through these locks vessels will be lowered to the level of the Pacific. Next are shown the Pedro Miguel locks, which have a lift of 20-1-3 feet. A good view of the operations is given in the film. The famous Culebra cut is the next important work shown. The distance across the cut at its widest point from above is about 2,000 feet; and the greatest depth of the excavation is 480 feet. Next are shown the great Gatun locks and dam, as well as Gatun lake. Other features are "The Lord and the Peasant," an intensely dramatic film; "A Child's Remorse," an unusually good biography; "What the Driver Saw," will furnish the comedy part. "Pathe Gazette" has many interesting scenes from this week's events.

WHEN MARK TWAIN

FAILED TO AMUSE

Some Abandoned Literary Undertakings of Great Author

In an article in Harper's by Albert Bigelow Paine we get an idea of some of the good stories Mark Twain did not write. The fact that the great humorist failed to write several times is not generally known, and the public has the notion that once he had his start his career was a succession of triumphs. Nevertheless there are records of two or three stories and plays that either failed to find publishers or producers, or fell flat when offered to the public. We learn, too, that Mark Twain's wife was regarded by the author as his best critic, and that when her judgment condemned a piece of work he threw it aside. Olivia Clemens' verdict on those unpublished stories has been upheld by the professional critics, who, since the author's death, have been permitted to inspect them, and while she may have passed much that posterity will be careless of, she suppressed nothing that ought not to have been suppressed. That is the opinion of Mr. Paine, who has examined the manuscripts, and whose article on the great American humorist is a valuable, critical and biographical study.

"Among the abandoned literary undertakings of these early years of authorship," writes Mr. Paine, "there is the beginning of what was doubtless to become a book, 'The Second Advent'—a story which opens with a very doubtful miraculous conception in Arkansas, and leads only to grotesquerie and literary disorder. There is another, 'The Autobiography of a Dumb Fool'—a burlesque on family history, hopelessly impossible, and began it with vast enthusiasm, and until he allowed his wife to see the manuscript thought it especially good. 'Livvy wouldn't have it,' he said, 'so I gave it up.' There is another, 'The Mysterious Chamber,' strong and fine in conception, vividly and intensely interesting; the story of a young lover who is accidentally locked behind a secret door in an old castle, and can not announce himself. He wanders at last down into subterranean passages beneath the castle, and he lives in this isolation for twenty years. The question of sustenance was the weak point in the story. Clemens could invent no way of providing it except by means of a wastepipe or conduit from the kitchen, into which scraps of meat, bread, and other items of garbage were thrown. This he thought sufficient, but Mrs. Clemens did not highly regard such a literary device. Clemens could think of no good way to improve upon it, so this effort, too, was consigned to the penal colony—a set of pigeon-holes kept in his study. To Howells and others when they came along he would read the discarded yarns, and they were delightful as the sketches which every artist has turned face to the wall."

Howells, who was a great friend of Mark Twain's, but also the foremost literary judge of his day, made a mistake in one of Mark's stories, namely, "Captain Stormfield." He thought the work worthy of publication, and, as recommended, although later on he admitted that had his advice been taken, the result would have been disappointing. A few years ago the book was published, but probably not one in a thousand readers have ever heard of it, although it had the reputation of a great author to support it, which it did not have in the days when Howells thought it ought to be published. Mrs. Clemens, it appears, was a truer judge than Howells. He spoke as the critic. She expressed judgment as the general public, and Mr. Paine says that her husband was grateful for her advice, and would take it before that of any of his literary friends. Mrs. Clemens did not pretend to say whether a story was good as literature. She had an instinct which told her whether the public would welcome it, and, of course, she knew whether she would like her husband's name attached to any given story. She was somewhat more orthodox than he, and probably was scandalized by many of the things that he wrote.

Like Dickens, Clemens had histrionic talent, and on one occasion Sir Henry Irving said to him, "You would make a better actor than a writer." Notwithstanding this gift, the humorist had little success with his plays. As far as "Col. Sellers" was concerned, there were "millions in it," or at least enough profit to make the piece one of the most successful of its time, but though he made several other ventures in the drama, none of them rewarded the author either in reputation or in bank account. It would be supposed that a play written in collaboration by Mark Twain and Bret Harte would be a money-maker, especially when the name "Ah Sin" was chosen, the point with the same hero being famous. "Ah Sin," nevertheless, was a flat failure, though much worse plays have succeeded.

Then there was the comedy called "Simon Wheeler, the Amateur Detective," which Mark wrote with as much enjoyment as anything in his career. "Never such consuming interest and delight," he said in a letter to Howells describing the work on his play. Notwithstanding the author's own judgment, the actors and managers to whom it was submitted gave it only qualified praise, anxious as they were to appear in anything with Mark Twain's name attached to it, and would not risk the production. Their opinion was correct if the play was anything like the burlesque on the Sherlock-Holmes stories that appeared in book form many years later. It was a very disappointing piece of work, and not only failed to add to the author's reputation, but showed him capable of descending to a painful smartiness that a 16-year-old boy would blush for. However, Mark Twain was a big enough man to have several big failures, and the knowledge that he did not always succeed will not hurt his fame.

Great Scope For Improvement Discussed by Dr. Drummond.

Can legal practice in Canada be remodelled? A great many people who have had to do with lawyers and law courts will hasten to argue that it could be done; that a very great deal, perhaps, could be done to make justice even more effective, and less intricate. Mr. A. T. Drummond, LL.D., has written an interesting article in Queen's Quarterly dealing with this question. He says, in part:—"When referring to the recent death of Judge Mabey, chief commissioner of the board of railway commissioners for Canada, the Canadian press has paid unusual tributes to his broadmindedness, his desire for fairness to all parties, his quick insight into problems, and the common sense methods he adopted in arriving at his decisions. Rules of evidence, precedents in other courts, and legal technicalities were not allowed to stand in the way of what was right and fair, and great railway corporations were made to understand that individuals as well as communities and trade associations have rights which must be respected."

"The general public, which has so long been harassed by the cobwebs, the uncertainties and the protracted delays of the courts of law, has appreciated these tributes to the memory of the great judge, and knowing the facilities which the railway commission affords to applicants, quickly and somewhat inexpensively to obtain decisions, will echo the suggestion made by one of the leading Toronto dailies, that the courts of law and their procedure might, with immense advantage, be remodelled. Why should not the simplicity in procedure, the facilities for early hearing of cases, the absence of technicalities and formalities, the desire for fairness in reaching a decision and the practical finality of that decision, characteristic of the proceedings of the board of railway commissioners, be equally characteristic of the courts of law?"

"Especially during the past 60 years, there has been enormous development in almost every walk of life. We live in practically a new age. The profession of law seems, however, to be tardy of change, and to indicate a lack of initiative on the part of its members, and a lack of courage to meet modern conditions. Reformers have been relatively few, and some of these not sufficiently crucial in their nature to gain the appreciation of the public. The cause does not lie in lack of ability in the profession. Possibly, if we were behind the scenes, we might find that the reason was somewhat personal to the members and that the advantage of the public was rather overlooked."

"What particular changes should be effected in the wide range of subjects special to the profession is a matter of detail, not intended to be discussed here. The members of the bar know that there is great scope for development if they were only sufficiently courageous to admit it. On the other hand, the general public, especially those who have had, for instance, to endure with patience the sacrifice of time and the great expense of a long contested, even if a successful, suit, cannot help realizing that what has been done in one court of record—the board of railway commissioners, where decisions often involve vast interests—can also be done more or less effectively in the other courts of record. In this age of change, many—perhaps most—subjects have to be looked at from a standpoint entirely different from that of a hundred years ago, and without broader views and greater knowledge, we are of necessity less bound down by the methods, and the opinions of the men who preceded us. In the ordinary dealings of everyday life, a leading principle which increasingly appeals to our better natures is that of fairness, and the methods we prefer to employ include the shortest and the least expensive road, and the constant application of common sense. How often progress would be retarded if we were always fettered by a fixed routine and if mere formalities, or a precedent of even fifty years ago, were allowed to delay or block final results."

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN

BY DR. FRANK CRANE

There is something about a stringed instrument that makes it more human than all others.

The violin has a soul. The voice of the violoncello is a spirit's cry. A tone's a tone, of course, just as a man's a man; yet as some men have kindly and prophetic spirits, and some are but little better than animals, so some tones come all surrounded with suggestions, enclosing strange implications, attended by spiritual connotations, drenched with mystery, dripping with the waters of the Infinite.

I wonder if it is that cat-paw. Does this fragment of dead animal become the medium speaking to us the unknowable secrets of that darkness into which animal-souls go when the body dies?

When I hear a skillful cellist draw his bow across the string, the sound that penetrates me is not like that of a drum or a harp-string, but it is a veritable voice, the voice of one calling across the lake of tears in my heart.

CANADA MONTHLY.

Why Canadians are neglecting the opportunities in their own country is the theme on which John H. Parry, the economics writer, preaches a sermon in September Canada Monthly.

When the American West was settled, the same thing was true, he says. Men went to Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, broke the sod and sowed their crop, and sold out at twenty-five dollars an acre, thanking their stars for the deal they had made—only to see it double and treble and quadruple in value in the course of a few years. The same thing is going on in Western Canada, he says, and proceeds to explain how many Canadians who think they are doing well are really losing money.

Arthur I. Street, the statistician, gives a lesson in Canadian arithmetic, and proves by figures that Canada can accommodate over nine and three-quarter millions people without straining a muscle.

Don Salvador Castello Carmona continues his Mexican adventures. A. A. Briggs has a story of the Peace river country called "The Vengeance of Jackknife"; James Baker describes the original of Dickens' famous "Squeers" and his "Dotheboys Hall"; James Church Alford has a political love story called "In the Front Row," and the second installment of A. A. Strachan's Mounted Police serial appears. There is also fiction, verse and articles by C. L. Armstrong, Mary Wheelwright, Thomas A. De'v, Almee Jaxon, "Kit" and others.

WHY APPOINTMENT WAS NOT CONFIRMED

MORE LIGHT ON THE OAK BAY SITUATION

Sergeant Beckton Was Told There Were Influential People in the District

Councillor J. Herrick McGregor, of Oak Bay, yesterday contributed a letter to the press, written in his usual entertaining style, on the subject of Reeve Noble's resignation and the incidents leading to it. In the letter appears the following:

"When I complained to the council that the Oak Bay police were suspected of some queer influence in having three times summoned R. F. Green for infractions of the Automobile Act, whereas Councillors Pemberton, Smart and myself were never molested, Reeve Oliver upheld Commissioner Noble in his statement that he merely handed a copy of the act to each of the policemen, telling them to carry out the law without favor or malice.

When Mr. Noble advised the appointment of a chief of police and a paid magistrate, Reeve Oliver agreed again. But he would not agree to the appointment of a chief without advertising the vacancy and making the full board of police commissioners responsible for the appointment after examining the credentials of all who might care to apply.

About this time (August, 1912) Mr. Noble, through the office of our municipal clerk, took legal advice, found that he was exceeding his powers in acting as a sole police commissioner and that it would be necessary for the full police commissioners to ratify all his acts. Instead of ceasing all action at this point, he took it on himself to privately and improperly appoint a chief of his own nomination, in direct opposition of the decision of the council at its previous session. At the next session of the board of police commissioners Councillor Noble, without first notifying us of this appointment, asked to have all his actions approved and ratified to date.

When he was obliged to explain that the reason for this request was caused by his secret appointment, he was rebuked in turn by every other councillor, and it is quite possible that the unanimity and honest indignation of this rebuke had something to do with his resignation on the following day.

There is little doubt that Mr. Noble's nominee for chief of police would have been in that position now, but for the rash and arrogant behavior of the nominator, for the officer in question was well respected. Having been so improperly placed in a false position, his resignation was accepted and the majority of the police commissioners decided to appoint a new chief of the district.

Now the officer referred to in the above extracts from Councillor McGregor's letter was Sergeant S. J. Beckton, formerly connected with the Northwest Mounted Police, and the Victoria city force. A few words with the sergeant might enlighten Mr. McGregor considerably—at least it is charitable to assume that they would—as to the reason for the Oak Bay council's refusal to confirm Beckton's appointment as chief of police, in keeping with its usual custom. Incidentally it might explain what the "work and arrogant" behavior of Mr. Noble had to do with the competency or general eligibility of the man nominated for the post.

When Sergeant Beckton was appointed chief of police by Commissioner Noble he had a conversation with Reeve Oliver. "I was asked by Reeve Oliver," said Mr. Beckton, "whether Mr. Noble appointed me, how I proposed to do my work. I replied that I intended to give everyone a fair margin of speed, and then to treat all alike. I intimated that I would show no distinction, nor use any discrimination, in regard to making arrests or laying information." He told me I must use judgment; there were some influential people in the district. My appointment was not confirmed."

Mr. Beckton was formerly in the Imperial service, and afterwards in the Northwest Mounted Police, where, he says, the law was the law, and that if a man committed an offence, the fact he was an "influential person" had no weight at all. "I am not sorry I was not appointed," he said, "for my training has been different, and while there is a fascination in criminal police work, the position of Oak Bay chief of police would have no attraction if all my informations had to be submitted to higher officials in the municipality. I could not hold the job, because there would be trouble very soon."

SIR GEORGE ASKWITH TO VISIT VICTORIA

Is in Canada Collecting Information Regarding Settlement of Disputes

Victoria will be visited shortly by Sir George Askwith, chairman of the Industrial Council of England. He is in Canada to conduct a comprehensive survey into all Canadian labor legislation and will especially remark the working of the Lemieux Investigation Act.

He is accompanied by Lady Askwith. According to the Ottawa Free Press Sir George resembles an astute member of the bar rather than a solver of labor problems. He is tall and thin, slightly stooped, has a large, silky moustache, and smokes Egyptian cigarettes.

"Yes, I am chairman of the Industrial Council," he declared in an interview. "I was appointed in October last by the British government. This consists of a number of employers and leaders among the men in all staple lines of industries."

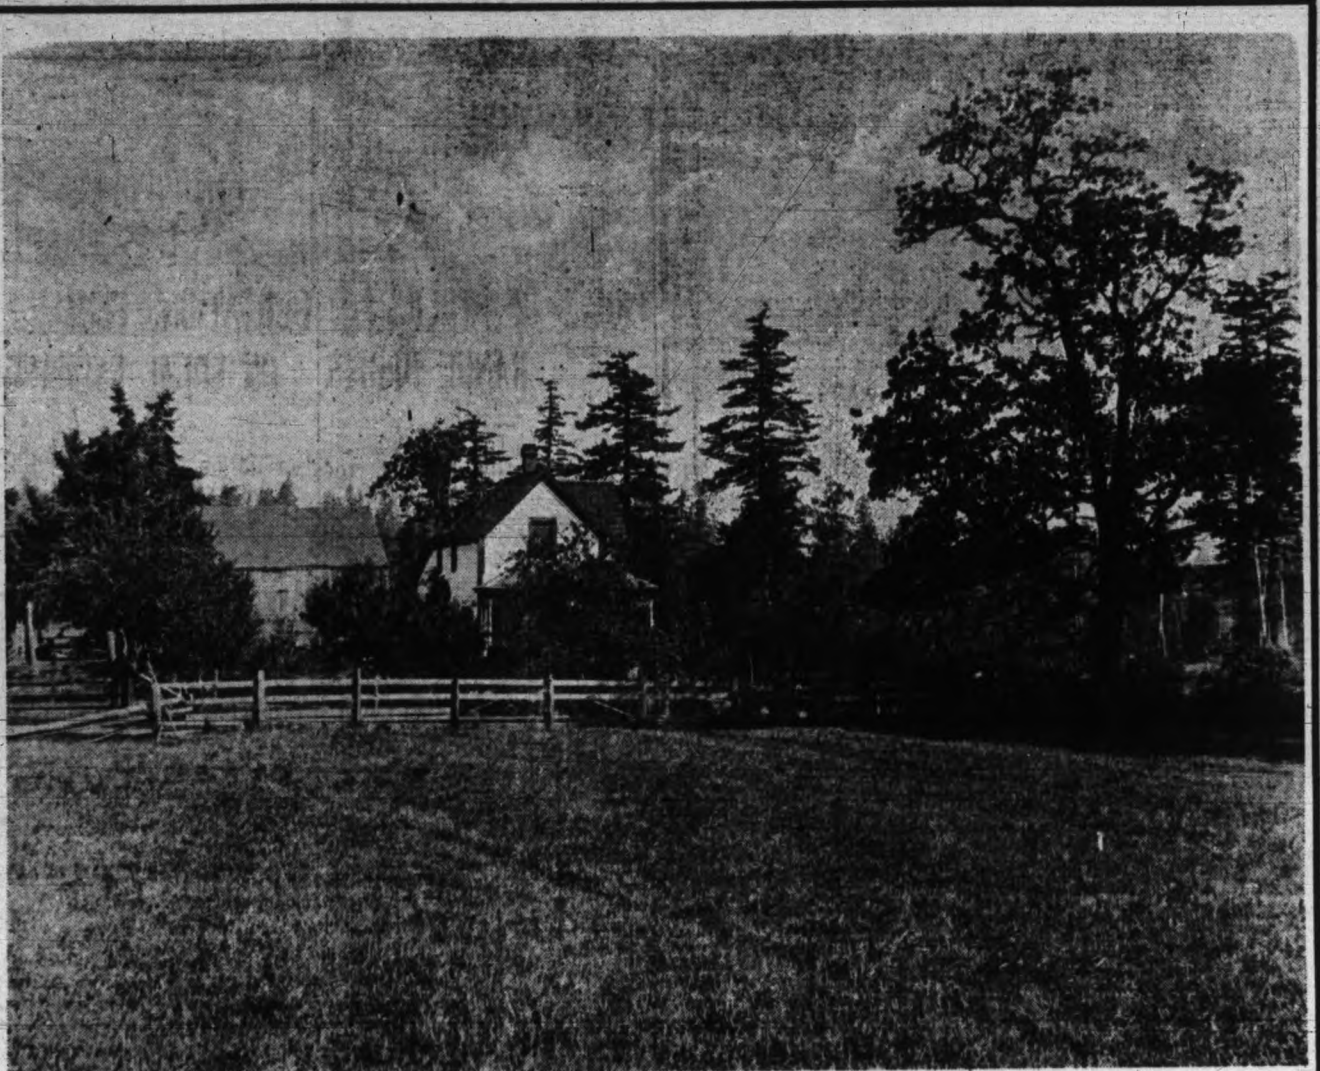

"My object here is to inquire into the best methods of settling labor disputes. A deputation of chambers of commerce in England waited on Premier Asquith some time ago and suggested that an investigation be made of Canadian labor legislation, including the Lemieux Act."

"As a result I was delegated to come out to Canada to investigate, which explains the reason of my visit," commented Sir George with a quiet smile. "No, I cannot make any comments on the Lemieux Act," he answered in answer to another query. "All my comments will be made in a report to the government."

He declared that in England at the present time they had legislation resembling the Lemieux Act in operation. For instance, there was the Council Act of 1894, which did not force contending parties to meet, but authorized an inquiry by agreement of both sides in a dispute. Then there was the Minimum Wage bill put into force during the recent coal strikes by which the minimum wages in the coal mines were fixed in various districts.

A new railway enactment that had been brought about largely, it was gathered, through Sir George's own efforts, was that each railway department should have a board to deal with wages and conditions. In case the board does not agree the dispute goes to an arbitrator who attempts to frame an agreement and gives final decision. In cases where both parties cannot agree on an arbitrator this is left to the government.

"This has been found to work out very well in England," declared Sir George. Sir George has already interviewed Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor; Hon. McKenna King, ex-minister; Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, the author of the Lemieux Act, and Prof. Adam Shortt.

Rumors of Negotiations for Exports of Gold From London and Paris

(Courtesy F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
New York, Sept. 13.—A decline of bearish operations and scattered liquidation produced a moderate betterment and a somewhat higher range of prices, and in the afternoon there was talk to the effect that negotiations were in progress for engagement of gold in London and Paris for this country. The weakness of foreign exchange lent color to the above remarks and the somewhat easier tendency of demand money in the late afternoon also contributed. It is not improbable that monetary considerations will govern the action of the market for quite a period but as stated yesterday, the policy of making moderate purchases on the drives prove profitable, as the strong fundamental conditions are not being ignored by the large holders of securities as a factor of prime importance in determining the course of security prices after the crops have been harvested and the policies relegated to the rear.

GOOD TRADINGMARKET IN WHEAT

Closing Prices Show Slight Advance Over Thursday's Final Quotations

(Courtesy F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Chicago, Sept. 13.—It was a good trading market in wheat, both early and late. In the end the active months were at 7-8 cent. net gain over last prices yesterday, after a little reaction from the best prices of the session. There was a hint of better support when the market had its rally from the 90 cent level before the close yesterday. Foreign news over night was on the side of the buyers. Local bears fought the early advance. Liverpool had earlier opening following the decline here and at Winnipeg late Thursday, but shorts in the English market became alarmed over the very light American offerings over night, the bullish crop figures from Buenos Ayres, the strong closing at Buenos Ayres. These conditions gave 3-4 cent rally at Liverpool before this market opened. World's shipments of wheat promise nearly 10,000,000 for the week including 4,162,000 bushels wheat and flour. Bradstreet's reported to-day. The trade had bullish news from other quarters and was forced to ignore the bearish statistics.

AN INTERESTING
REPORT ON ISLANDISSUED BY FEDERAL
MINES DEPARTMENTChas. H. Clapp of Geological Survey Makes Available Material Collected by Him

The federal department of mines has issued an interesting report on Southern Vancouver Island by Charles H. Clapp, of the Geological Survey Branch, who has spent the last four years on the island making a geological examination. The report is based principally on his reconnoissances of 1908 and 1909, and it has been issued to make available the material collected. In its reference to the economic geology of Southern Vancouver Island the report says:

The mineral resources of southern Vancouver Island include deposits valuable, or possibly valuable, for gold, copper, iron, fuels, fluxes, lime and cement, pigment, clay, sand and gravel, and stone. Coal has been the chief source of mineral wealth, and copper and some gold have also been commercially produced. Lime, cement, clay, sand and gravel, and crushed stone, as well as coal are being produced at present.

Gold occurs in the gravels of a large number of the streams of southern Vancouver Island, but with two or three exceptions, the principal deposits all occur in the streams which drain the area underlain by the Leech River shales, and have been derived from very low grade quartz veins in that formation. The gold-bearing gravels are usually of fair grade, but are not very abundant. A large accumulation of gravel at the old mouth of Lost River and near the mouth of the present Sombrio river, is being exploited at present. Mineralized shear zones occur throughout the rocks of the Vancouver group, and although they are usually more important as possible sources of copper, they also carry small amounts of gold.

The copper deposits of southern Vancouver Island are all more or less closely connected with the igneous rocks erupted during the upper Jurassic period of batholithic and dyke intrusion. They may be subdivided into three main types—contact deposits, impregnated and replaced shear zones with accompanying quartz veins, under which is the special Sooke type, occurring in the shear zones of the Sooke gabbro, and lastly the Type type, a large lens of ore which was formed in a syncline in the Sicker schists of Mount Sicker. The contact deposits, which are developed chiefly in metamorphic limestones near their contacts with intrusive igneous rocks, are the more numerous. They are, as a rule, small, irregular, and of low grade, but some of them are of considerable economic interest. The deposits occurring in shear zones are of little importance, with the exception of the special Sooke type, which is of great prospective interest. The Type deposit, now largely worked out, is the only deposit from which there has been a commercial production.

The iron ore deposits are of four types, contact deposits, impregnated schists, replacement or segregation deposits in the Sooke gabbro and bog ore deposits. The contact deposits are by far the most important; and consist of bodies of magnetite, which have been formed in the metamorphosed Nitinat limestones, near the intrusive Beale diorite. The bodies are large, and low in phosphorus, but high in sulphur. The chief deposits occur in the valleys of Gordan river and its tributary, Bibacoo creek. The impregnated schists occur in the Sicker series. The mineral-bearing rocks are dark red, Jasper schists, with 10 to 15 per cent. of magnetite. Since the magnetite can be easily concentrated they are of prospective importance. The other two types are apparently of no value.

*Coal is the source of a very important industry on the east coast; the coal being obtained near the base of the Nanaimo formation in the Comox basin, and in the northern part of the Nanaimo basin, from 600 to 1,500 feet above the base. These coal deposits have not been examined during the present investigation. Coal of commercial value is apparently absent from the other basins of the Cowichan group, and is almost certainly absent from the Tertiary sediments of the west coast. These sediments have also been prospected for oil, but the conditions for the accumulation of oil do not seem to be favorable.

The crystalline limestones of the Nitinat and Sutton formations furnish excellent and ample material for flux, and for the manufacture of lime and cement. Cement is manufactured in the southeastern part of the island by the Vancouver Portland Cement Company, and lime is burned by several manufacturers also in the southeastern portion of the island.

A bog deposit of yellow ochreous clay in the Sooke district is a possible source of material for a base for colored paints.

There are two types of clay deposits in southern Vancouver Island, the shales of the Nanaimo formation and the clays of the stratified superficial deposits. The greater part of the shales of the Nanaimo formation are sandy and impure, but associated with the coal in the Nanaimo and Comox basins are thin, lens-like beds of clay-shale. This shale is mined by the coal companies and used by the British Columbia Pottery Company at Victoria, where it is mixed with the clays of the superficial deposits, for the manufacture chiefly of sewer pipes. The clays of the stratified superficial deposits are used for the manufacture of common bricks and drain tiles, at Victoria, Sidney, Sidney Island, and Somenos.
